BLOCKADE RESUMED

U.S. To Renew Aerial Watch On Cuba Too

... Decision Reached By Kennedy And Top Advisers

Washington (AP)—The White House announced Wednesday night the naval arms quarantine of Cuba will be resumed at daybreak Thursday. Air surveillance of the Russian missile sites in Cuba also will begin again.

The decision was reached Wednesday night by President Kennedy after a conference with his top advisers and after the departure of United Nations Acting Secretary-General U Thant from an attempt to arrange U.N. verification of the dismantling of the bases. The attempt apparently was not successful.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen he would not state precisely when aerial surveillance would begin. Like the naval blockade, it had been suspended for the period of U Thant's two-day visit to Cuba.

News Conference Canceled

The White House also announced that Kennedy has canceled a news conference which had been scheduled for Thursday afternoon. Salinger said it would be rescheduled when the Cuban situation is clarified.

In announcing that the reconnaissance operations will be resumed, Salinger told newsmen:

"In the absence of effective U.N. arrangements, the hemisphere nations have the responsibility for continuing surveillance."

It was presumed that the safety of American fliers was the reason for Salinger's refusal to state precisely when the air reconnaissance would begin.

And despite the phrase "hemisphere nations" there was no indication that any planes other than United States ones would perform the aerial photography over the Soviet missile sites.

Salinger said he could not describe the scope of the blockade when it is resumed, but he left the impression that the same zones and interception rules would apply as were in effect on Monday when the two-day suspension was ordered into effect.

Close Consultation

Questioned whether the decision to resume the blockade and surveillance was made in consultation with Latin American countries, Salinger said this government has been "in constant consultation" with the other republics of the hemisphere.

The press secretary, who had been giving "no comment" answers to most questions of newsmen for the past two days, was plainly relieved to be able to provide some solid news.

He made announcement of resumption of the arms quarantine by recalling that on Monday the White House had announced that, in response to a request from Thant, the quarantine would be suspended voluntarily by this government "for the period of his two-day visit." Salinger added:

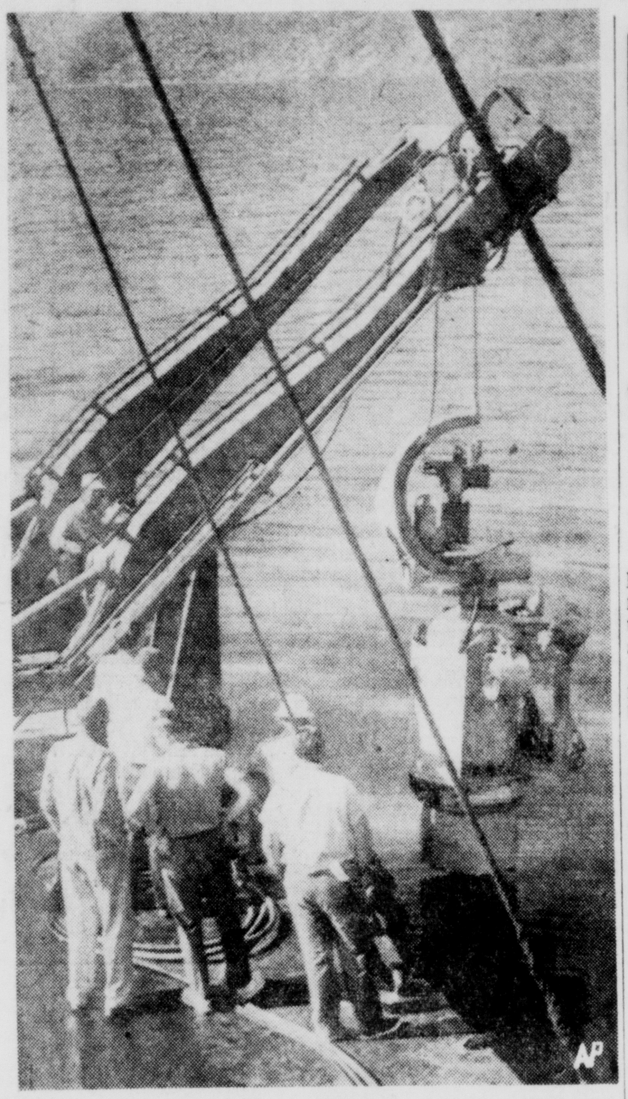

"That voluntary suspension will end at daybreak. The quarantine will be resumed at that time."

Mum On Dismantling

But he still declined to state what word this government had received on the actual dismantling of the missile sites by Soviet technicians, despite reports that this work had begun on Monday.

Many questions were left hanging, but Salinger said he intended to provide no more information Wednesday night.

Salinger said he could not say whether it is possible that the news conference, which was to have been televised live by all 3 major networks, would be held later this week.

ROBOT GOES TO SEA

Workmen stand by as Shell Oil Companys's underwater robot is lowered into the ocean at Port Huenema, Calif. It was the first public showing for the mechanical roustabout, a remote-controlled quarter-million-dollar gadget that swims, sees, hears and has an arm to turn valves and wield tools. The robot is designed to help in drilling and maintenance of oil fields hundreds of feet below the surface of the ocean. The robot is equipped with a television camera so its shipboard operator can see what it is doing.

Kiewit Buys Herald For Local Control

Omaha (UPI)—Contractor Peter Kiewit Wednesday purchased the Omaha World-Herald, Nebraska's largest newspaper, and said he wanted to continue the newspaper's 77-year tradition of home ownership.

Stockholders of the World Publishing Co. unanimously accepted Kiewit's bid over that of New York publisher Samuel I. Newhouse, who was reported to have offered more than $40 million for the newspaper, television station KETV and other assets, including a physicians' building.

The newspaper said the purchase price was "in excess of $40 million." Kiewit said his "offer was several hundred thousand dollars more than Mr. Newhouse's."

Retains Local Control

Kiewit, an Omaha native, who heads one of the nation's largest construction firms, said he bought the the World-Herald "primarily as an investment as a citizen who wants to see it (the ownership) stay in Omaha."

The newspaper said the sale included the principal assets of the company. It said the decisions by stockholders to accept Kiewit's offer and to reject Newhouse proposal were both unanimous. The sale is effective Dec. 31, 1962.

Kiewit said he did not plan to become active in management but intended to sit as a member of the board of directors.

"There is a definite understanding that the chairman of the board and all principal officers of the company will continue to run the company," he said. "Our interest is primarily an investment in our home city."

Stock For Employes

Kiewit said he plans to set up a program under which employes may purchase stock.

"I've always felt that it was a very fine newspaper and have enjoyed reading it," he said.

Kiewit has been president since 1931 of Peter Kiewit Sons' Co., a construction firm founded in 1884 by his father and uncle.

The firm has built many defense fortifications for the free world, forged major dams, and dug canals. Kiewit subsidiaries operate from Alaska to Venezuela. In 1958 and 1960, Kiewit's company was listed as the nation's top contractor in volume of new business for a single year. It was second in 1961.

The World-Herald said Kiewit had become "one of the world's greatest builders."

The newspaper said:

"His purchase of the World-Herald and other principal assets of the World Publishing Co. continues this newspaper's 77-year tradition of independent local ownership."

Founded By Hitchcock

The World-Herald, founded by the late Gilbert Hitchcock and controlled by his heirs since his death, publishes morning, evening and Sunday editions. It has a combined daily circulation of more than 251,000 and a Sunday circulation of more than 269,000.

Hitchcock, who served as a U.S. representative and senator, published the paper until 1934. Henry Doorly was publisher until his death in 1960. The World Publishing Co. now is listed as publisher, with W. Dale Clark as chairman of the board and W. E. Christenson president and editor.

Thant Silent On 'Failure'

... ROCKETS COMING DOWN

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant said Wednesday night that he had learned during his Cuban peace mission that all Soviet missiles would be dismantled by Friday and out of Cuba soon afterwards.

Thant, however, was silent about his apparent failure to persuade Prime Minister Fidel Castro to go along with a Soviet suggestion that the missile withdrawal be verified by U.N. inspection.

Such inspection was considered vital by the United States. The secretary-general indicated he would continue his discussions with Cuban representatives in New York on the whole Cuban crisis.

Separate Talks

Thant's statement was made to newsmen on his arrival from Havana. He rushed immediately to U.N. headquarters for separate meetings with chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov.

Thant's chartered plane touched down at New York's Idlewild airport at 7:48 p.m. CST amid developments which indicated the Cuban crisis had taken a critical turn.

In his airport statement Thant made no mention of his apparent rebuff by Castro. He stressed the dismantling of the Soviet missile bases and plans for withdrawal of the missiles.

Fruitful

Thant described his talks in Havana as "fruitful." He said there was agreement that the United Nations should continue its efforts to reach a peaceful settlement of the Cuban problem.

Then he asserted:

"During my stay in Havana, I was reliably informed that the dismantling of the missiles and installations was already in progress and that this process should be completed by Friday—that is the day after tomorrow.

"Thereafter will come the shipment and return to the Soviet Union, arrangements for which are understood to be in hand."

Aides Back Too

Returning with the secretary-general from Havana were members of the U.N. secretariat and military advisers who had intended to remain in Cuba as the nucleus of the proposed inspection team.

News that this group was coming back to New York was the first tip off that Thant had run into a snag. There was no word of this in a U.N. communique issued at the end of Thant's second long talk with Castro, but it was regarded as significant that the communique made no mention of any agreement on inspection.

Mikoyan En Route To Talk With Fidel

Moscow (AP) — First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, one-time fishing partner of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, left by air for Cuba early Thursday, Moscow radio reported.

The broadcast said the trip's purpose is to "exchange views on the international situation with the government of Cuba." This apparently meant quieting uneasiness in Havana over the Soviet decision to remove rocket bases.

Mikoyan and a party of 15 are expected to stop in New York on the way.

Permission

In Washington, the State Department said Mikoyan had been given permission for a one-day stopover in New York, is expected to arrive there Thursday afternoon and will leave for Havana Friday.

In London, British officials said Mikoyan was quickly granted permission to land there. They said they welcomed his trip, believing it would help to seal Cuban compliance with the Soviet decision.

Mikoyan was expected by U.S. authorities in Washington to confer in New York with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov, who took over as chief agent of the Kremlin at the United Nations when Premier Khrushchev decided to liquidate his Cuban rocket bases.

No Plans

(In Washington officials said there had been no plans for Mikoyan to see President Kennedy or Secretary of State Rusk on his stopover. Whether he might seek to confer with Kennedy or Rusk after the Cuban visit was not clear.)

Mikoyan is the second Soviet ace to enter the Cuban crisis scene on the diplomatic level this week—Kuznetsov, a soft-spoken Kremlin troubleshooter, being the first.

Importance

The sudden departure of a personality of such high level as Mikoyan gave indication of the extent of the importance being attached to the Cuban crisis.

CALLAN POSTS

Democratic First Congressional District candidate Clair Callan took time out from his campaign to personally replace signs for a Republican candidate, Railway Commissioner Wayne Swanson. Some Swanson signs were destroyed by "over-anxious workers" erecting Callan signs. Callan apologized to Swanson and replaced the signs.

Accusations Fly With Witches

... AS ELECTION NEARS

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Campaign accusations rode the air with witches and goblins Wednesday as candidates headed into November and the final 5 days of electioneering.

Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison said in Omaha that Republican gubernatorial nominee Fred Seaton "has yet to answer my inquiry as to where he is going to get the money to finance his proposed spending schemes."

The governor said that when Seaton was secretary of interior, "each of the budgets he submitted were reduced by the Bureau of the Budget—a total of $250 million in his 4 budgets—before being passed on to Congress."

Re-Assess

Until Seaton "can come forth with his increased tax program to finance his big spending policies," Morrison said, "responsible people must re-assess his position as a nominee claiming fiscal responsibility."

Democratic National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert of Shickley suggested that Seaton's proposed programs "would cause an estimated 40% increase in the state property tax."

Nebraska, she declared, "simply can't afford Fred Seaton."

In Omaha, Seaton said that the state consitution was violated when some state agencies failed to file their budget requests prior to Sept. 15, the statutory deadline.

Governor's Job

"I am not being critical of any of the heads of those departments or subdivisions," he declared.

"On the contrary, it is perfectly plain that under both the constitution and the law, it is the governor's responsibility to see to it that all departments and areas of the state government over which he has direct control do comply with the law."

Meanwhile, in Washington, GOP National Chairman William Miller predicted that Seaton will lead Nebraska into "a vital resurgence of her traditional Republicanism."

Nebraskans, he said, "have had enough of Governor Morrison's dubious New Frontiersmanship and are ready for a return to sound Republican government."

In another election contest, Lancaster County Democratic Chairman Don Grant challenged Republican Rep. Ralph Beermann "to renounce the support of John Birchers."

Beermann is opposed by Democratic nominee Clair Callan and petition candidate George Menkens in the First District race.

Telegram Read

Grant said that a telegram of support from Rep. John H. Rousselot of California, a member of the John Birch Society, was read at a Beermann appreciation dinner in Lincoln Oct. 8.

"If Mr. Beermann seriously aspires to represent the people of Nebraska in the national Congress," Grant declared, "it behooves him to renounce the support of any member of this irresponsible group whose national leader sees fit to blacken the name of former President Dwight Eisenhower."

Nebraska To Be Cloudy And Cool

It will be cloudy and colder Thursday with occasional light rain expected in Lincoln and eastern Nebraska.

Highs are expected in the 40s near Lincoln to 50s south.

The state high Wednesday was 70 at Chadron. North Platte reported the state low of 22. The high in Lincoln was 55; the low, 33.

Man Found Dead By A Detective

A 66-year-old Lincoln man was found dead in his home Wednesday night when a detective stopped there to ask him some questions.

Lancaster County Deputy Sheriff Bill Jones, acting coroner, said Joseph D. Duranske of 1729 K had been dead since sometime Monday. He said Duranske died of natural causes.

Duranske was found by Det. Arthur Aksamit of the Lincoln police dept., who wanted to ask the man a few questions in connection with a bad check investigation, Jones said.

Tests Boost Punch

Washington (UPI) — The United States is nearing the end of a nuclear test series which is reported to have produced a dramatic breakthrough in packing more punch in U.S. nuclear weapons.

While authorities have been guarded on the results of the Operation Dominic tests now going on in the Pacific, one source said they have been "fantastically successful" in improving the "yield to weight ratio."

The yield to weight ratio means the amount of power per unit of size. Increase in the ratio allows the blast force of bombs and missile warheads to be raised without increasing their size.

Shot Slated

A high altitude shot scheduled for some time between 2:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. EST Thursday at Johnston Island may be the next to last test in Operation Dominic. Another and smaller high altitude test is set for Nov. 4.

So far, the United States has set off 34 test devices since the series began April 25.

While the United States has been exploding small research-type shots, Russia has been testing big multi-megaton devices thought to be proof tests of actual weapons.

Red Record

The Russian tests, of which the Atomic Energy Commission has reported 26, already have set a record for total power exploded in a single series. So far the Russians have not indicated when they will finish.

Only one U.S. test was known to be the tryout of an actual weapon. This was the firing of a Polaris missile from a submerged submarine. There were rumors that the missile missed the target area, but one source said it exploded "right on the nose."

Most of the U.S. and Russian tests have been in the atmosphere and a few have been in space. Studies of the space tests are valuable because theoretically radiations from space blasts might be used as a missile defense.

Caused Belt

Of the 3 space shots already tested by the United States, the one over Johnston Island on July 9 of 1.4 million tons of TNT set up an artificial radiation belt around the earth. The belt is expected to remain for years.

The Russians exploded two nuclear devices in space over Central Asia in October. A U.S. explorer satellite was launched Oct. 27 to find out what effect these tests had on earth radiation belts.

SEATON PROVES STUDENTS' CHOICE

Republican gubernatorial nominee Fred Seaton led the way Wednesday as GOP candidates swept a mock election at the University of Nebraska.

Seaton piled up 1,652 votes to 1,051 for Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison.

NU students picked Morrison over GOP gubernatorial nominee John Cooper in 1960 by a 698 to 463 count.

Morrison also ran strong on the campus in 1958 when he lost his senatorial scrap to Republican Sen. Roman Hruska by just 7 votes out of a total of 447.

Callan Edged

Republican Rep. Ralph Beermann toppled Democrat Clair Callan in the First District race, closest of the 3 congressional tussles. Beermann attracted 736 votes to 553 for Callan.

Petition candidate George Menkens held but 10 votes.

In the Second District, Rep. Glenn Cunningham defeated Democratic nominee Thomas Bonner by 268 to 72.

Third District Rep. Dave Martin bounced Democrat John Hoffman by 533 to 145.

Students approved the area legislative reapportionment constitutional amendment by a 1,603 to 947 vote count.

Total student vote was 2,867.

Menon Fired From Defense Post

Bungling Is Charged

Russia Cancels Arms Shipments To India

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

New Delhi, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru, facing up to charges that V. K. Krishna Menon has bungled India's preparedness, ousted him as defense minister Wednesday night.

Nehru himself, almost 73, took over the key post with its urgent responsibility of staving off Red China's attacks on India's northern borders.

Menon

Though Menon's fall was cushioned by a new appointment as minister of defense production, the Cabinet switch was an important victory for his critics at a time the nation was bogged down in the crucial undeclared war.

U.S. Speeding Help

Almost simultaneously with the ouster, the United States announced it is airlifting weapons to India.

"We will be supplying types of equipment needed to meet the current Chinese communist aggression — for example, light infantry weapons and ammunition, transport and communications equipment," a State Department spokesman said in Washington.

Menon has fallen under increasing fire, in public demonstrations, since the Chinese opened their offensive Oct. 20. They have smashed through Indian forces, inadequately clothes and equipped, at 13 points along the northern border.

Close Range Fighting

In the latest report on the border fighting, a Defense Ministry spokesman said Indian and Red Chinese forces exchanged fire at close quarters Tuesday at a key Himalayan pass leading to the most vulnerable invasion route to the plains of the State of Assam.

Menon, 65, has often shown friendship for the Chinese. He had turned to the Russians for weapons and for what he had hoped would be a restraining influence on the Chinese. But Russia has endorsed the Red Chinese stand in the border dispute and called off arms shipments to India.

Britain Arranging Aid

Now India has turned to the United States and Britain — two of the nations Menon irritated most in the United Nations — for the weapons it desperately needs to hold back Chinese advances. The British government, like the United States, is arranging to send help.

The situation could have important political effects on the Indian scene. Menon led a leftist group that is one of Nehru's major strongpoints in the present government.

J. Edgar Hoover greets President Kennedy at FBI graduation exercises.

Lawmen Highly Praised By JFK

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy received a gold FBI badge Wednesday and told a blue ribbon gathering of peace officers that Americans owe their law enforcement officials an unlimited obligation.

Kennedy spoke at graduation exercises of the FBI National Academy where selected police and other law officers are given a course each year in up-to-the-minute scientific crime solution and prevention methods.

The 88-man class included officers from most of the states and 5 foreign countries.

"As President of the United States I want to say we all have a great debt to all of you," Kennedy told the graduates.

He said the art of crime detection now is a very sophisticated one and the duties of peace officers also "require a great knowledge of civil liberties."

Law enforcement officers, he went on "make our society what it is."

"I know that you are frequently ill-paid," the President said: "You travel with hazard and danger. You make it possible for us to live our private lives.

"The obligation of 180 million Americans to you is unlimited."

It is especially important at this time of crisis for the country to be served by officers vigilant to detect "the enemy within and to know what to do to meet them and to overcome them." Kennedy concluded.

Kennedy was introduced to the graduates by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hoover told him the FBI badge is the proudest possession of an agent and that the gold badge given him "makes you officially a member of the FBI family."

In accepting the badge, Kennedy praised the FBI and Hoover, whom he called "one of the most distinguished public servants in the history of the government."

In another address at the graduation ceremony Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star and president of the Associated Press, said the nation's police departments "reflect the spirit of their communities."

The editor said the difference between police departments "lies in whether the public is apathetic or cynical" toward law enforcement.

He praised the FBI as an agency which, under Hoover, has achieved an outstanding record for efficiency and integrity.

He recalled that Hoover, upon becoming head of the FBI in 1924, initiated the program to rid it of politics, establish merit as the most important basis for promotion, and make its chief responsible only to the attorney general of the United States.

Cubans Will Return Body Of U.S. Pilot

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—A U.S. U2 pilot missing on a flight over Cuba is dead and the Cuban government has agreed to return his body, acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Wednesday night.

The pilot was Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr., 35, Greenville, S.C.

The Defense Department reported Anderson missing last Saturday but there had been no indication he might have been forced down over Cuba and killed.

Thant made the disclosure on his return from Havana, where he had discussed removal of Soviet missile bases with Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Anderson presumably was on a flight to check on the buildup of the Soviet bases.

In announcing that the pilot was missing, the Defense Department had reported that its reconnaissance plane checking on the Soviet buildup had been fired upon over Cuba.

Thant announced the decision to return Anderson's body in a single sentence at the end of a statement reporting on his talks with Cuban leaders.

"At my request, the Cuban government has agreed to return on humanitarian grounds the body of Major Anderson to the United States," Thant said.

After he was reported missing, Anderson was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. His widow and two sons live in Del Rio, Tex., where the pilot was stationed.

Crash During Chase Hurts 2 Boys

Two boys pursued by police at high speeds on East O were hospitalized Wednesday night after their car went out of control, rolled, and struck a power pole and a tree.

Bryan Memorial Hospital officials said Melvern L. Finke, 18, of Walton, was in fair condition with a fractured arm and possible internal injuries.

Richard E. Heier, 18, of 844 So. 28th, the driver, was listed in good condition, suffering cracked ribs and abrasions.

Police Sgt. Bill Jernigan and Officer Dick Lovrien in a parked cruiser, clocked the Heier car through radar near 62nd and O at 58 miles per hour in a 35-mile-per-hour zone.

Officer Kenneth Mischnick then took up pursuit. Mischnick said at one time during the chase the Heier auto reached speeds between 85 and 90 miles per hour.

At a point about 2 miles east of the city limits, the officer said, the Heier car attempted to pass another eastbound auto, lost control, rolled and struck a power pole and a tree.

No Gremlins Land In Jail On Halloween

No Halloween goblins, gremlins, or pranksters landed in jail Wednesday night, although a series of vandalisms were reported in the course of the evening.

Someone blew up a mailbox in front of the home of Lincoln lawyer John McArthur, possibly with a firecracker. Postal inspectors began an immediate investigation.

Later in the night a fire hydrant was turned on at North Cotner Blvd. and Valley Road, and firemen had to be called to shut it off.

Police investigated reports of boys shooting fireworks on Sherman between 44th and 46th, and someone spraying black paint on a house belonging to Richard E. Pocras, 1615 W. Manor.

Lacy Dazzape of 4110 No. 20th reported boys in a white car threw tomatoes at his vehicle near 62nd and Havelock.

Reports also came in of teenagers taking sacks of "treats" from small children on 52nd between Adams and Greenwood and at Sherwood Drive and Fremont.

'We Know Little About Cancer,' Says Researcher

Omaha (AP) — A noted cancer researcher warned Wednesday that too often the so-called promise of anti-cancer drugs is the "promise of desperation."

Drugs are suitable for only a few cancer situations and they cannot be called cures, said Dr. David A. Karnofsky. Dr. Karnofsky is associate professor of medicine at Cornell University and a member of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research.

"What we know about cancer today, despite great efforts in research, is very little," Dr. Karnofsky said.

"We must learn more about the structure of the cell and why it becomes malignant before real progress can be made."

There have been striking benefits from drugs to children suffering with leukemia. Five types of drugs can relieve all manifestations of cancer in about 80% of the cases, he said.

"But the cancer comes back," said Dr. Karnofsky. "We have prolonged life but have not cured the cancer."

Rust Resistant Wheat Is NU Aim

Next year's Wheat Utilization Research Conference will be held in October at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Northern Regional Utilization Research Laboratory at Peoria, Ill., sponsors reported Wednesday.

The announcement was made at the conclusion of the first such conference, held this week at the University of Nebraska Center under sponsorship of a group of wheat associations and agencies.

Howard Morton of Longmont, Colo., director of Great Plains Wheat, Inc., and head of a planning committee, said the exact date of the 1963 conference will be set later.

The number one objective in wheat breeding at the University of Nebraska is to produce varieties with stem rust resistance, a staff member said.

Paul Mattern, cereal chemist-in-charge of the university's wheat quality laboratory, made the observation during a panel discussion at the closing session of the conference.

He said a series of semi-dwarf wheats with stem rust resistance are among some of the most important wheat selections being evaluated for milling and baking quality.

Research may provide the answer to one of the problems that have puzzled United States wheat growers for decades: How to halt the steady decline in per-capita consumption of wheat and wheat products.

J. R. Matchett of the U.S. Department of Agriculture said that per-capita consumption of wheat in the United States has been slipping at the rate of two pounds per year.

He said these losses have offset population gains, resulting in a remarkably stable demand for the past 50 years, during times that advanced technology aided wheat growers in greatly boosting their productivity.

"If we could halt this decline, the annual increase in population would utilize 8 million additional bushels of wheat each year," Matchett said.

There would be a market for an additional 170 million bushels of grain by 1975 in the United States if the amount of cereal starch in paper by weight was increased to an average of 5%, a federal utilization research director said.

"At present, paper contains an average of 1.5 per cent cereal starch by weight," Fred Senti, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Northern Regional Utilization Research Laboratory at Peoria, Ill., said.

Omaha, Colorado Universities To Share Lectures Via Phone

Omaha—The Universities of Omaha and Colorado announced Wednesday share-the-professor telephone lecture plan.

Starting Feb. 4, the two schools each will offer semester courses in industrial psychology and social psychology. The first one will be taught by Dr. William E. Jaynes, associate professor and chairman of the Omaha University psychology department. He'll talk directly to 35 students in an Omaha classroom and simultaneously to 35 in Boulder, Colo., via long distance telephone.

Students can question the lecturer via the two-way system.

The following hour, the procedure will be reversed by Dr. Keith E. Davis, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Colorado, lecturing in person in Boulder. There will be 3 class sessions a week.

The lectures will be supplemented by slides and other visual material and monitored by a graduate student teaching assistant in the classroom where the lecture is being received by phone.

Identical examinations will be given simultaneously on both campuses in each of the regular 3-hour credit courses.

The University of Omaha has pioneered in the so-called "telecture" technique using it once for a transatlantic lecture from London.

Inman School Parents Seek Miller's Help

Inman (AP) — Parents of Inman High School students have asked for a meeting with state Superintendent of Public Instruction Floyd Miller concerning the dispute which closed Inman schools.

Those who attended a meeting of parents said the dispute involves a conflict between the school athletic program and regular school work.

Twenty-four of the 28 families who have students in school attended the meeting. They said they wanted to continue the school sports program.

Inman has only 18 boys in high school and has no football team. However, its basketball teams, playing in Class D, have sometimes been outstanding.

A petition signed at the meeting was to be taken to Lincoln for the conference with Miller, either sometime this week or next Monday. Miller had asked that a delegation representing the board be accompanied either by Supt. G. E. Tennis or board President Lewis Kopecky.

Supt. Tennis and the majority of the board were quoted as feeling that primary emphasis should be put on the basic school curriculum even if it interferes with the school sports program.

The board voted last week to close the schools until the dispute was settled.

ChamberTraining Institute Set For Columbus Nov. 16

Columbus—Columbus will be the site of a state-wide Chamber of Commerce Training Institute in November, according to Chamber President Virgil W. Hughes.

The institute, which will be held all day Friday, Nov. 16, will draw chamber officers, directors, committee chairmen and managers from all over Nebraska, particularly the eastern half. The total is expected to reach 200 persons or more.

Chamber board member Bob Lofton has been named promotion chairman of the institute, Hughes said.

The purpose of the institute, which will be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in conjunction with the Columbus Chamber, will be to equip voluntary leaders in Chamber of Commerce work to do a better job.

The informational lectures and discussions will be headed by U.S. Chamber personnel, including Dwight Havens, manager of the local chamber service department, Frank Mueller, director of training institutes, Richard L. Baily, manager of the northwestern division, and Glenn Scott, district manager of the northwestern division.

Both Havens and Mueller, who are former Nebraskans, began their Chamber of Commerce careers in Lincoln. Havens also managed the Norfolk and Hastings chambers.

3 Youths Enter Plea Of Innocent

Omaha (UPI) — Three youths pleaded innocent here to a felony count of vandalism and were bound over to district court after a municipal judge refused to quash the felony.

Russell R. Lamp, 19, William S. Rynearson, 19, and Eugene Osmond, 18, all of Omaha, were accused of cutting down trees in a city park. Attorney John Ford argued unsuccessfully that the tree-cutting did not warrant a felony charge.

Production Needs Demand

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A consideration of growing importance was discussed by Dr. Nevitt Sanford at a University of Nebraska convocation this week. Dr. Sanford is a noted psychologist from Stanford University who spoke on the relationship between supply and demand. He made note of the fact that the creation of new products and new industries is not going to solve this nation's social and economic problems. With this he set us upon an economic circle in which it is difficult to find any ending.

There are those who argue that if we can only find the funds to expand our industry, we will create new jobs, there will be more customers and everyone who wants employment will find it. Unfortunately, the situation is not quite so simple as that. The answer is not found, either, in the growing demand of labor for a shorter work week and other devices to spread the work of one man among two men. As noted by Dr. Sanford, one thing working against the expanded production theory is that expansion means modernization, too, and growing technology. The new plant built today is not like the plant built 10 years ago.

Shorter Week No Answer

Technological changes are cutting into jobs and eliminating many of them. To double the current production rate of this nation would nowhere nearly require a doubling of the number of workers. Thus, it is plain to see that increased production will never in itself provide the market that it would demand.

Under the free and competitive enterprise system we have, it would seem that production is one of the least of our worries. The profit motive alone is sufficient to stimulate production and it needs no other artificial help. That profit is effected by many things, two of them being the cost of production as compared to the price of the product and the market for the goods produced.

There is no question that a great deal of American industry today is concerned about the matter of costs as opposed to price. This is one of the reasons labor is workin against its own best interests by advocating a shorter work week. A shorter work week can only lower the standard of living of everyone involved. This approach will have a tendency to equalize things between American workers but it would bring on a suffering for a great many. It means, in the end, that those who now have employment will have to share it with their neighbors and it means that management will tighten up only in order to keep the overall costs of production at existing levels. Certainly, this area of things presents a matter worthy of much attention.

Dr. Sanford, however, was more concerned with the matter of markets and especially with the matter of diversification. He deems it vital that we broaden the horizons and increase the standard of living of the American people. Rather than any kind of share-the-wealth deal through a shorter work week, we would stimulate desire for more products. This, too, is easier to talk about than to bring about but it has much more logic in it. As an example, Dr. Sanford spoke of the great increase in the American people's appreciation of music and their purchase of high fidelity reproduction machines and records. This, he noted, has resulted in the employment of thousands of additional people.

The housing industry might well be cited as another example. The average age of home owners has ben materially lowered in the past 20 years. Where families used to enter into home ownership in their thirties, they now do so in their twenties and the early twenties, at that. A large number of newly married couples will move into a home of their own or acquire one within two to four years.

Nor do people today stay put as they once did. It is reported that the average home owners buys a new home every seven years. On the other end of things, age has come to be no factor at all in home buying. People of advanced years can and do receive long-term loans on homes—loans that have no reasonable expectancy to be paid off before the death of the buyer.

This drastic change in the home-buying habits and possibilities of the American people has had a tremendous economic impact upon the nation. Dr. Sanford spoke of services as the most important area of improving the standard of living today and he may well be right. Certainly, the service areas of our economy are expanding and could be given further stimulation but the matter of goods is not likely to be relegated to second place. Service can be meant to include just about the entire field of science in many of its aspects but science is an important part, also, of the production of goods.

Goods And Services

There is no doubt that as a society becomes more refined and more civilized, the emphasis shifts from goods to services and this is happening in the United States. While goods may or may not be the first consideration, the matter of services is one which calls for much study at this time. The economic problems we face today as a nation get heavily into the area of our social structure and our way of life.

Study In Contrasts

Life is a study in contrasts.

The morning paper carried the news that Lord Astor is leaving Great Britain at the age of 76. Besides being the proprietor of the London Times he was born to vast wealth, great status, and privilege. Lord Astor is mighty sore about death duties, that is, taxes. He faced the choice of the depletion of his fortune or his country in need. He went for the fortune. Someone else can save Britain. He is going to die as tax free as possible.

Down in Oxford, Mississippi, Negro James Meredith, Korean war veteran, used a lull in the sneers of his fellow university students to say that he hopes to be able to live his life out in Mississippi where he was reared. If he can't do that he will leave the country.

The Meredith remark is touching. He grew up wrong color, on the short end of everything. Yet his deepest desire is to continue to live in Mississippi, which for some unaccountable reason, he loves. He is only asking for the privilege of doing all he can for his home state, to be accepted as the citizen the constitution says he is. If Mississippi had an ark of the covenant he asks to be privileged to help carry it and to help cherish it.

Lord Astor, evidently, is for carrying no one's ark but his own. If his country, in deference to tradition, cherished him and defended his privilege that is something else.

This makes us sure of one thing. If we were in dire straights we would be greatly more comforted by the appearance of James Meredith and we would be inclined to punt Lord Astor out of our foxhole.

India A Major Theater

There are two major things happening in Asia. One is that, at this stage, India is losing to Red China. The other is that India is experiencing a political awakening. Its policy of neutralism is falling apart.

Mr. Nehru has been guilty of wishful thinking. His neighbors are not shadowy figures as he would have liked to believe. His place in the world is not one of detachment. Now he has friends and enemies. He will be aided by the United States and England. He will be beaten up by Red China.

Only Red China knows whether it is out for limited gains or whether it is attempting the initiative in the communist world to provoke World War III. Certainly, the best preventive now against the latter is extensive arms aid. If India can turn back the Red assault, the hostilities can be confined. There should be no hesitancy on the part of the United States. The world is aflame in more places than Cuba.

India is a democracy, dominated by western thinking, influenced by its long association with Great Britain. It has been unrealistic but not unfaithful. The assault by Red China should tighten India's ties with the West.

While the news on the Indian frontier is distressing there are hopeful factors. One is the approach of winter in an area where mountains and snow forbids intensive action. A heroic defense can gain the time needed to arm the Indians with weapons equal to those of the invaders. This is vital. A failure on the part of India could give Red China a front on the Near East. That would mean a direct confrontation with the West in a theater where World War III could be provoked by the direct decision of the Chinese communists.

Good News For The Overweight

It isn't the news that doctors seemed to try to make it but it should be comforting to some people to see it noted by the medical profession that problems of overweight are not entirely a matter of will power. It was noted by a group of researchers before the American Academy of Pediatrics that many fat people eat no more and exercise no less than do some of the thin people.

The explanation for this seeming conflict is that the individual's amount of fat is directly related to the rate at which the body burns up food calories. Those calories that are not burned up by the body are turned into fat. An individual's size, then, is determined not so much by what he eats and how much he does but rather, by the rate at which his body burns up food calories.

Work in this area has two laudable ends. One of the ends is psychological and can be immediately realized. It would help overweight people adjust better to their plight if they thought others realized that obesity was not necessarily a sign of laziness or gluttony. Such a realization would also help keep the overweight person from giving up and falling into a habit of overeating and laziness.

And finally, realization of the true nature of the problem is a big step toward finding a solution. There is little doubt that the time will come when the matter of weight can be pretty well determined without the often difficult and harsh dieting and exercise that are now so much a part of the problem. The day will come when the problem is attacked, rather, though proper body disposition of the caloric intake.

FBI Looks Into Nebraska Race

OMAHA — Rep. Glenn Cunningham, of Nebraska, the congressman whom Rev. Billy Hargis and the John Birchers have probably praised the loudest, managed to start an FBI probe of his Democratic opponent, Prof. Tom Bonner, the other day.

Cunningham, a right-wing Republican from Omaha, has introduced 65 bills and resolutions in the House of Representatives, including five on indecent literature—all of them rejected. But he became famous last session for introducing an amendment to the post office bill which would bar Communist mail from the mails. Though opposed by Francis Walter (D., Pa.), chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee, on the grounds that its was unconstitutional, it was passed by the House, although later drastically modified in the Senate.

The GOP congressman from Omaha got so much political mileage from this publicity that he was considered unbeatable —until a tough little professor from the University of Omaha, Tom Bonner, took him on and has given Cunningham a scare.

So, suddenly, one day before Vice President Lyndon Johnson was scheduled to arrive in Omaha to address a Democratic rally, Prof. Bonner found himself under FBI investigation.

Strangely, Bonner was being investigated not for any violation of a federal statute, but for the non labeling of campaign literature in a state campaign involving a state candidate. The state candidate is Martin Stalinsky, running against Congressman Cunningham's campaign manager, Gene Mahoney, for the Nebraska state legislature.

The literature referred to the fact that Rep. Cunningham had voted against the Eisenhower-Kennedy policy of sending surplus U.S. wheat to Poland. It was because of this literature that Rep. Cunningham demanded, and got, an FBI probe of his opponent, Prof. Bonner.

Meanwhile Prof. Bonner was subjected to the same type of smear that Richard Nixon used so effectively when first elected to Congress — an anonymous telephone campaign charging that he was a communist. A battery of telephone operators have been calling people saying: "I'm calling for the Voters Information League. Did you know Tom Bonner was a communist?" Then they hang up.

This is difficult for the FBI to investigate because it's anonymous. However, when I phoned the Justice Department to ascertain how and why Rep. Cunningham had enough drag with the FBI to start an investigation of his opponent because a candidate for the Nebraska state legislature had failed to label state literature, I got some interesting information.

The Justice Department confirmed the fact that Cunningham had requested the probe on Sept. 18 and that it had been ordered Sept. 20.

But I also learned that the FBI was investigating material favorable to Cunningham and circulated by doctors in his behalf.

The complaint was based on an anonymous letter circulated by doctors for medical associations close to Rep. Cunningham containing the charge that "Cunningham is one of the congressmen whom social planners are out to defeat" and called upon the friends of doctors to vote for Cunningham, not Prof. Bonner.

Eleanor Making Courageous Fight

NEW YORK — Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, 78, is fighting for her life. She has been downed by a lung infection and a rare type of anemia.

They'll wish they had never picked on her!

Mrs. Roosevelt has survived more massive foes than these two disorders and carried on in life as if nothing had happened. The widow of FDR is a woman of immense courage, phenomenal drive, and a good stout heart. We wish her well.

The daily bulletins from her sick room are hard to believe. In all her years in the public's eye — and sometimes in its hair — sickness has never been associated with her. For four decades this once painfully shy and withdrawn woman trooped up and down and across this land and the world with a vitality and imperviousness to mundane aches and pains that was truly spartan.

In some respects, Mrs. Roosevelt's impact on her times has been appreciated more overseas than in her native land. To many Americans who joined or tagged along behind the hard core of her often shrill and violent critics it always came as a puzzling surprise to learn, year in and out, that she had been judged "first lady of the world" in that unofficial but revealing competition.

To be the first lady of the world, Eleanor Roosevelt had to overcome a gripping inferiority complex. She has written about it, frankly and boldly. She came from a line that produced generations of beautiful women, but she was born homely.

When the handsome, dashing Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a distant cousin, fell for her in 1903, and proposed, she was stunned. So was his austere mother, Sara Delano Roosevelt. She took her son off with her on a West Indian cruise to try to talk him out of it. But for once, he would not hear her.

There would be no way to describe the burden it must have been to Eleanor Roosevelt to leave her growing family and enter the rough and tumble of politics. But she managed it in 1910, when he was elected to the state Senate, and again when he campaigned in behalf of Woodrow Wilson—who made him assistant secretary of the Navy. By 1924 Eleanor Roosevelt was chairman of the New York Democratic State committee and convinced that her husband, though now confined to a wheel chair, was still a man fit for public office.

Merit Plan

Seward, Neb.

We, the undersigned, practicing attorneys in and for Seward County, Nebraska, hereby state that we are opposed to the proposed amendment to the Nebraska State Constitution calling for a new method of selecting district court judges and Nebraska Supreme Court judges. Basically, this plan includes the following principles:

(1) Committees are established, the members of which are appointed by the governor and by local bar associations.

(2) The committees name the nominees for office.

(3) The governor then makes the ultimate appointment.

On the negative side, this so-called Nebraska "Merit Plan" purely and simply would take away the right of the people to elect district and Supreme Court judges for the state of Nebraska.

Furthermore, under this same plan, the judges in office would be compelled to run non-competitively each six years. This is so obviously unsatisfactory that no further comment is necessary.

This plan would automatically disqualify and render ineligible for appointment many of the well-qualified active practicing lawyers.

Voting for this proposed amendment would be voting to give away some of our voting privileges, and this might be only a start.

Nebraska Roads

McCool Junction, Neb.

I can't help but take exception to your editorial of October 25, "Confusion On Highways." During the short time Morrison has been governor, there has been more progress in our highway construction than during any period under a Republican administration. I think my opinion should carry some weight. I have only recently retired after 25 years of truck-driving. Our being behind can't be blamed on Morrison. That goes back to Governor Cochran's time. When the concrete road construction started, we seemed to be pleased with our decision to "pay as you go." It proved to be costly as the states that voted road construction bonds and got the roads built did it at a much lower cost per mile than we did. Every year road construction costs skyrocketed.

Governor Morrison and his wife have been a dedicated pair to give this state good government. We know what we can expect of them. Our Department of Agriculture head, Mr. Pearle Finigan, is the best man to hold that office since I can remember. Why lose him? We feel that Governor Morrison should be returned to office for another term. On his record, he deserves it. Why experiment with Fred Seaton?

Eisenhower was the instigator of getting Fred Seaton to run for governor of Nebraska. Did he say anything about wanting to help the people of Nebraska? No, just something like: "What's good for the Republican party will be good for Nebraska." Hogwash! I am sick and tired of hearing this Dick Nixon type of smear tactics. Honest criticism, yes. But dishonest—no.

Road-Building

Friend, Neb.

I feel that you and your newspaper are doing a fine job in giving us information on political affairs and the amendments to be voted on in the general election. With this information, I am convinced that all these amendments should be adopted.

In regard to the four-year term for state executives, I was surprised by Fred Seaton's statement that he does not favor a four-year term for governor, while his party endorses the amendment. This is something hosts of us have been working for for several years. Neither Morrison nor Seaton is running for a four-year term now. That election will come in 1964. County officials already have four-year terms.

Your editorial on highways was pretty much old stuff with some truth. Yet our highway department and the governor are not to blame for some of the delays you mentioned. Our short building season coupled with wet summer are elements to consider. It takes a long time to secure rights-of-way because of court actions and protests. An established highway cannot be changed without hearings which cause delays. It takes months to complete detailed specifications which have to be approved by the federal highway departments. Hard winters and spring floods add problems. You have not had time to present a plan better than that used by our state engineer.

The news that our State Highway Department will ask for an appropriation and permission to build a structure especially designed for engineering is good. This should have been done 10 years ago. The present quarters in the Capitol handicap all the work of the department.

Proud Heritage

Lincoln, Neb.

I join other Democrats in deploring your defection to Mr. Seaton. As an individual, you may support whomever you like, but it seems unethical for the editor of the only large Democratic paper in the state to do so.

As the other writers have stated, I don't find your assessment of Mr. Seaton especially high except as you see his potential. You seem to see possibilities in his future that even he hasn't thought of.

You say he will "carry on" the agricultural research. For heaven's sake, could he "carry on" better than its instigator?

In your Thursday editorial, you blame Mr. Morrison for our poor highway showing. Now, I am older than you and I have lived in Nebraska all my life. In all that time, through all the administrations, I can't recall that the editors ever had compliments for the highway department. Surely you don't believe that all our engineers are incompetents. Then, might not there be some other reason if our highways are so far behind? Other states can use such devices such as issuing bonds or raising the sales tax to obtain huge sums of money to match federal funds to build their roads, but Nebraska cannot do this.

Mr. Morrison has made us proud of our state and it's a fine thing to hear Nebraskans speaking proudly of our heritage. We've been belittled by other states ever since I can remember and we've taken it and actually been apologetic. But now the people feel a new glow of pride in Nebraska. Two years is a short time to finish projects and I'm sure Mr. Morrison would be the first to say that his programs are just beginning to show results.

Democrats are scarce in Nebraska and when we have one performing with as little friction as Mr. Morrison, surely it behooves us to give him our approval by re-election.

Charge Of Politics

Lincoln, Neb.

In your editorial of October 24, "Red Aggression Challenged," you stated that one would have to look "long and hard to find a voice of dissent" to the U.S. blockade. The report that one in 12 (later one in 22) telegrams to the President protested this action by our country indicates a minority but certainly not an obscure one.

You declared that you do not believe in the idea of equal co-existence and that communism has "no more right than a common criminal." Your position indicates a lack of faith in the superiority of truthful ideas and in the democratic process by which truth triumphs. History is filled with bloody examples of one group of men futilely attempting to eliminate beliefs they deemed evil by eliminating the persons holding such beliefs. The "theory of communism" is regarded by most persons in the world as a legitimate set of beliefs (although probably only a minority actually believe them). These beliefs are voiced through a political party that is recognized in many free countries and that has been voted into power and voted out of power recently in a democratic state. One of the errors in the practice of communism is the intolerance of opposing ideas. But a similar lack of tolerance was evidenced when you stated that the existence of communist beliefs "would be enough in itself to justify our actions in Cuba."

You remarked that "our rights, legally and morally" are more sound in Cuba than elsewhere. Moral rights must be based upon underlying philosophical assumptions, which are not stated in the editorial, so it is difficult to evaluate the comparative "rights" in Cuba. Also, you do not explain the "legal rights" for this unilateral action. If the rationale for the U.S. action really is based upon legality, then why did we not use some legal machinery initially? Unless some evidence of international legality can be produced, then this action must be regarded as nothing more than the self-interests of power politics.

Not Dense

Lincoln, Neb.

Does Mr. Seaton really think that the students of this great university are stupid? It appears that his idea of the intelligence of the student body of the University of Nebraska and what it is in actuality are two completely incompatible items, unless he intended his definition of "implement" for his own immediate associates.

Can the condescension which he showered upon us be taken as an example of what his attitude towards us will be if he wins? Really, the students of this great university are not as dense as he would like to believe. If Mr. Seaton had attended this institution, he would be well aware of this "minor" factor.

Strong Mayor Plan

Lincoln, Neb.

Voters in the November 6 election need to understand why there are many articles and sections listed on the ballot regarding the full-time mayor plan. These are necessary legally to make the plan workable. The following points must be covered properly in the amendment:

(1) Mayor's duties.

(2) Council's duties.

(3) Removal of the words "assistant to the mayor." (Placed in the charter in 1959, they are no longer necessary.)

(4) Mechanics of election and ballot (such as the mayor's being replaced on the council by another councilman and arrangements for this councilman's election. Otherwise procedures remain unchanged.)

The charter amendment does not extend city powers but rather, redistributes the administrative and legislative functions.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Retired Couple Enjoys New Life In Ireland

By ROBERT PETERSON

Among the thousands of Americans who have retired to Ireland is Tom Farrell, 67, former publisher of a cosmetics trade journal in New York. Although his grandfather was born here, Farrell had never laid eyes on the Emerald Isle until 1957 when he and his wife—who have 11 grandchildren—came for a visit.

They liked it so much that they came again in 1959, and again the following year when they rented a house for the summer. Convinced that their infatuation with Ireland was genuine, they retired last year and moved here bag and baggage to a roomy, 6-room apartment on the second floor of a private house in a neighborhood of stately brick residences.

Farrell has a touch of heart trouble and stays close to home, devoting most of his time to reading and visiting with friends who stop by. He takes a leisurely walk every afternoon with his dog and claims the charms of Ireland haven't begun to run thin.

His wife is animated, outgoing, and active in church groups, civic affairs, and charitable functions. She claims these are her most exciting years.

"There's something thrilling about settling in a different country and putting down new roots. Sometimes we miss the U.S., but it's just momentary."

What's so special about Ireland? "It's the people," she enthused. "I had no idea folks could be so warm and friendly. Although we're newcomers, they've taken us to their bosom and we already have as many friends as we had in the States. Folks drop in more often for visits, and we get together at teatime and after church and club affairs.

"It cost less to live here—that's one of the reasons we came. You could never get an apartment like this in the States for what we pay. And my cleaning woman gets half what I used to pay and is glad for the job.

"Groceries cost about the same, and you can't be quite so fussy about fruits and meats. But when you go out to dine at a fancy restaurant it costs less than you'd pay in the States.

"Transportation is cheap and you can ride the bus downtown for about 4 cents. You can see real plays for a dollar. When there are charity drives and functions they don't expect very much. And hospital and doctor bills are a fraction what we were accustomed to paying.

Any liabilities? "There's the weather," she sighed regretfully. "It's not as sunny as we'd like — too much cloudy, squally weather. And, of course, we miss seeing our grandchildren. But we plan to stay — at least for two or three years. If you've got the capacity for happiness you can be happy anywhere — particularly in a country like this where the people go out of their way to be pleasant, and you can get extra mileage from you retirement dollars."

Moving to a new land won't answer everyone's retirement dreams. But those with a hint of Irish ancestry who can adjust to new circumstances and seek adventure may find an extended sojourn in Ireland a great refresher in later years.

(In his next column Mr. Peterson visits a 100-year-old shopkeeper in Dublin.

3 Killed On Night Of Joy

By United Press International

At least 3 boys were killed Wednesday night in the annual Halloween patrol of spooks and hobgoblins.

Two brothers, Judson York, 11, and Alden York, 7, of Muskegon, Mich., were killed when they ran into the path of a car. Witnesses said the boys had been dodging traffic.

A costume-clad boy, Daryl J. Bethke, 10, Sioux Falls, S.D., was struck and killed on a highway in a residential-business area just north of Sioux Falls.

Police in Detroit, Mich., said two teen-aged gangs overturned 5 small foreign cars, and some older youths "strongarmed" children for their candy.

Children in the Bay Area of San Francisco sported Khrushchev and Castro masks.

A spokesman for UNICEF said an estimated 3 million children in 11,000 communities raised Halloween money for its uses. Last year more than $2 million was collected to help control diseases, combat malnutrition and establish children's outpatients.

Cholera Toll 125

Manila (UPI) — A cholera epidemic has killed 125 persons in Western New Guinea (West Irian) since Sept. 30, the Western Pacific office of the World Health Organization reported.

Mrs. Parisse with her family and extra children: Mike, 4th from left, back row, and Lisa in her arms.

JUST WHAT THEY NEEDED

Kansas City (AP) — What would you do if you had 12 children and a stranger left two more at your house and didn't come back?

That's the predicament of Eugene L. Parisse, a construction laborer, and his wife.

"I'd read about it happening to people but I never dreamed it would happen to me," Mrs. Parisse said Wednesday.

The Parisses were attending a football game Sunday afternoon when a man appeared at their home with a boy, about 4, and a girl, about 3.

He asked Helen Parisse, 15, the eldest daughter, if she would watch the two for about 4 hours while he looked for an apartment.

Helen said she thought he might be a neighbor and agreed.

He didn't return.

The Parisses and their 12 children, ages 2 to 17, have lavished love and attention on the newcomers but feel they can not afford to care for them indefinitely.

"I wouldn't mind if we were financially fixed so we could take them on," said Mrs. Parisse, whose family food bill runs to around $65 a week.

She said police would not take the children because they had not been abondoned. Juvenile court advised it could not take jurisdiction until the tots had lacked parental care for a year.

The youngsters, who say their names are Mike and Judy, aren't much help. A typical conversation goes like this:

Mike: "Daddy beats Mommy up."

Q: "What does he call her when he beats her up?"

Mike: "Judy."

Q: "Aha! Your mother's name is Judy!"

Mike: "No, I don't have a mother."

Q: "What's your father's name?"

Mike: "I don't have a father."

Q: "Mike, what's your last name?"

Q: "Is Lee your middle name?"

Mike: "Yes."

Q: "Let's make a deal, Mike. Tell me your last name and I'll give you a nickel."

Mike: "Okay."

Q: "There's your nickel. What's your last name?"

Mike: "Lee." (pocketing nickel)

Misko Meets Stockholders At Gresham

York (AP)—State Banking Director Ralph Misko met Wednesday night with stockholders and officials of the Gresham State Bank, now in the hands of the State Banking Department, and was told by stockholders that they had been contacted by a person interested in buying the bank.

The state took over the bank after Cashier Alfred Walford shot himself to death as a bank examiner arrived for a routine visit.

Harry L. Hylton, bank vice president, later gave Misko a statement that implicated himself and Walford in a shortage set at $468,000. Hylton said neither he nor Walford had benefited in the cashing of checks for customers lacking sufficient funds.

Misko said the stockholders Wednesday night expressed willingness to restore the shortage. Hylton previously had proposed that he and other officials of the bank put up $325,000 in personal assets and that an additional $150,000 be obtained through the bank's capital account and fidelity bond.

Misko said he favored a change in ownership of the bank and that the institution would definitely have to have new management before he would permit a reopening.

He pointed out that the bank's solvency would have to be restored before there could be a sale. Misko said he hoped to meet again with the stockholders next Wednesday but that it might be two weeks before another meeting is held.

NU Enrollment Gain Largest In Big Eight Conference

The University of Nebraska this fall recorded the biggest enrollment jump on a percentage basis of any school in the Big Eight Conference, a comparison showed Wednesday.

Nebraska's climb to 10,401 full time students, highest enrollment in the school's history, represented a 10.2 per cent increase over last year.

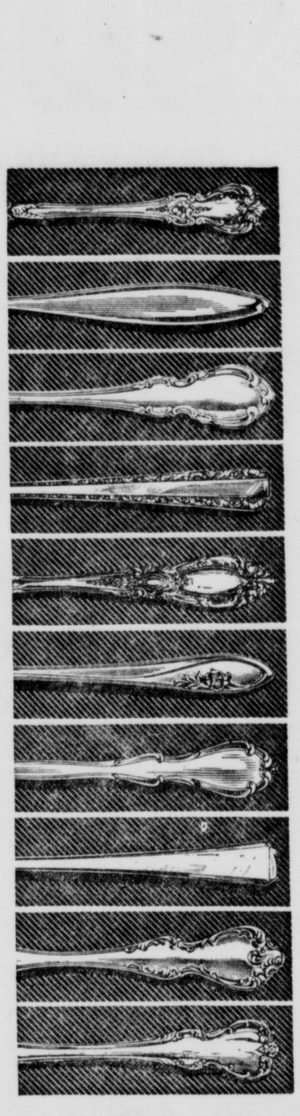

Percentage increases at other conference schools included Kansas State 7.9 per cent, Missouri 7.7, Oklahoma 6.9, Kansas 5.9, Colorado 5.5, Iowa State 4.5, and Oklahoma State 4.3.

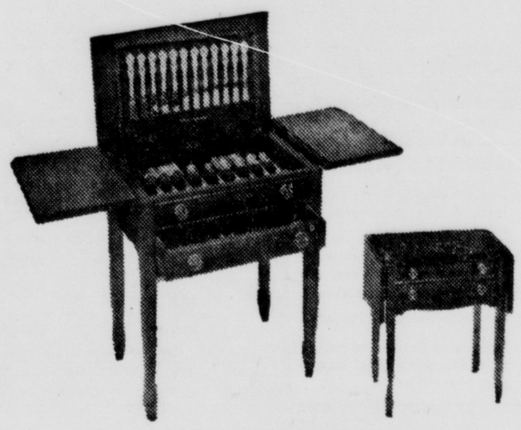

Nebraska remains the next to the smallest school in the league, however.

The 1963 enrollment figures: Missouri 13,892, Oklahoma 13,396, Colorado 12,266, Oklahoma State 11,795, Kansas 11,434, Iowa State 10,887, Nebraska 10,401 and Kansas State 8,477.

Soviet Is Caught Up In Reappraisal Of Policies

London (UPI)—The Kremlin has told India it must support Red China in the Sino-Indian border dispute, but it is caught up in an agonizing reappraisal of its policies elsewhere as result of the Cuban affair, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The sources said they believed the West can anticipate a temporary respite from fresh Soviet policy moves—if the Cuban missile conflict is settled—while the higher Soviet councils hold a post mortem on Moscow's Cuban miscalculation.

Diplomatic reports reaching London suggested the post mortem already was under way but that Premier Nikita Khrushchev, despite probable recriminations from some Kremlin associates, remains in full control. Most of the Soviet presidium and the central committee of the Communist Party are Khrushchev proteges and supporters.

But according to known Soviet procedures, the Cuban affair is certain to be a matter for a close review. It is expected to come up again when the central committee meets in Moscow in full session next month.

Khrushchev in the meantime was expected to mark time for at least a short while before embarking on any new major move in the international field. The sources said all was quiet in and around Berlin, for example, with no indication of an imminent Soviet move there.

The latest assessment here also said there was reason to believe the Soviet military was largely behind Moscow's decision to put missiles into Cuba in the belief Russia had fallen behind in the nuclear balance of power.

The missile bases would have covered the United States and other parts of the Americas which until now have been kept out of the East-West nuclear contest. Defense experts said this suggested that Russia had fallen behind on its program of "serial production" of intercontinental missiles, since such missiles would not need bases so close to the targets.

Earlier this year defense experts revised a previous Western estimate and now believe Russia has between 50 to 60 ICBMs rather than the previously estimated figure of 200.

The advent of the U.S. missile-carrying Polaris submarine also was believed to have played a part in Soviet military pressure for missile bases closer to the United States.

Communist China, assured of Soviet diplomatic support on the Indian question, meanwhile, threw its full support behind Fidel Castro's stand in the present crisis. It said it would back Castro's regime with "every possible step."

VATICAN FAIR PAVILION

This is an architect's drawing of the Vatican Pavilion to be built for the New York 1964 World's Fair. The structure, topped by a lantern and a cross, will cost approximately $2,000,000.

VENEZUELA CAPTURES COMMIE SABOTAGE RING

Caracas, Venezuela (UPI)—The Venezuelan government Wednesday announced capture of most members of a communist sabotage ring which blew up parts of 3 American-owned oil complexes in Maracaibo Saturday.

An interior ministry communique said the captured men were members of the Communist Party or the Neo-Communist Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR).

The government said the dynamiting of the powerplants answered radioed instructions from Cuba which were intercepted.

The sabotage in the oil fields of a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey occurred hours after President Romulo Betancourt announced mobilization of the armed forces during the Cuban crisis.

After the explosions, Havana radio said it was "the answer of the liberation army to President Betancourt's mobilization order."

The interior ministry communique did not state how many alleged saboteurs have been arrested. A roundup of communists and radical leftists took place during the weekend.

The burned body of Rafael Colmenares, a communist, was found floating in Lake Maracaibo after the explosion, the communique said. Two other members of the gang were injured and captured when dynamite they were preparing exploded prematurely.

The saboteurs used motorboats to reach the power plants shortly before midnight Saturday.

Repairs at the Creole Petroleum Corp. sub-stations had not been completed Wednesday. Company officials said production was down by 50,000 barrels a day.

Havana radio short-wave broadcasts beamed to Venezuela nightly have been utilizing exiled Venezuelan leftists in calls for demonstrations and violence in favor of "national liberation."

Dominicans, Nicaraguans and others also have been heard here. Presumably the Castro regime considers the use of foreign nations for seditious broadcasts is acceptable internationally.

The government said the intercepted radio instructions for saboteurs was coded. The code was broken some time ago by Venezuelan intelligence.

Parole Advisory Group Makes Little Headway

The advisory committee to the state departments of Institutions and Welfare worked all day Wednesday on a report to the governor on the state's probation and parole procedures, but did not make much headway.

Mrs. Kara Lee Eikleberry of Lincoln, committee chairman, said "quite a bit" of work still remains. She said there is no disagreement among committee members, but that they have been sifting new ideas on the report.

Announced Power Rate Reductions Correct In Every Respect—LPPD

Columbus (AP)—Published reductions of wholesale electrical rates for customers of the Loup and Platte Public Power Districts "were correct in every respect," Loup Manager John Preston said Wednesday.

He called comments about the reductions made by Consumers Public Power District Manager R. L. Schacht as reported in news media "misleading" and "absolutely untrue."

Schacht said the announced rate reduction was misleading, and that Consumers would actually have to pay more for its wholesale power now.

Preston said advances in general operating efficiency were the primary reasons for the recent reductions in wholesale electrical rates by the two wholesale districts.

"We were pleased to be able to make these reductions in the knowledge that Nebraskans would welcome more economic electrical power from their wholesale suppliers."

Preston invited "any interested party to come to our offices and inspect the records on the subject. The truth is that for the past 3 years Consumers has left a portion of its wholesale electrical bill unpaid, and accumulated nearly $750,000 in the process.

"The rate as set Sept. 1, 1959, is $2.62 for Consumers. We have now lowered the rate to $2.56, effective January 1."

Preston said the fact Consumers has been paying $2.47 per kilowatt of demand has nothing to do with the fact the rate has been lowered 6 cents per kilowatt of demand.

"The published statement that Consumers would enjoy a $367,438 reduction from the net rate over 3 years was perfectly accurate and correct.

"Further," he continued in his prepared statement, "I wouldn't say leaving a portion of an electric bill unpaid is any way to help serious minded people to settle power problems in Nebraska. In my house, if I didn't pay my electrical bill my current would be shut off."

Preston said wholesale electrical rates are set by boards of directors of supplying districts every 3 years and are based on estimated usage of electrical power.

"This method is an accepted one by all parties concerned, and there is nothing misleading about it. I would like to say once more that the public is invited to come to our office at any time to inspect the records on rates," Preston said.

Slight Drop In Prices Paid For Farm Products

Washington (AP) — Farm product prices declined two per cent between mid-September and mid-October.

An Agriculture Department report showed Wednesday that lower prices were received for most commodities, especially hogs, beef cattle, chickens and potatoes.

On the other hand, prices for wholesale milk, tomatoes and rice were higher.

In spite of the decrease from September, the Oct. 15 index was two per cent above a year earlier and the highest for the month since 1958.

The prices paid by farmers for commodities and services, including interest, taxes and farm wage rates, on Oct. 15 remained at 307% of the 1910-1914 average, equaling the all-time high established previously.

BERLIN CONVOY IS UNMOLESTED

Berlin (UPI) — The Soviet Union Wednesday made no effort to interfere with a U.S. troop convoy from Berlin, but refused to act on a U.S. protest against the East German sentencing of an American citizen.

In passing without delay a 27-man convoy on the 110-mile highway through East Germany, the Russians continued to observe 4-power agreement on Berlin's status. But they violated the same agreement by rejecting the protest.

Informed sources said the Russians told U.S. officials that the trial and sentencing of Jean F. Loba, 37, of Altadena, Calif., was a matter for the East German authorities. Loba received a two and one-half year term in a secret trial Monday for allegedly trying to help East German refugees escape.

The United States does not recognize East Germany and has insisted on dealing only with the Russians on any issues involving East Berlin.

The 4-truck convoy was the first sent along the Berlin-Helmstedt highway since Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev ordered the dismantling of the Soviet checkpoints at both ends of the highway, which an Army spokesman said was "very fast."

The speedy passage of the convoy was seen as a sign the Russians have no immediate plans to crack down on West Berlin's access routes in retaliation for the firm American stand on Cuba.

East German police slowed down West German truck traffic last week during the height of the Cuban crisis, but the delaying tactics did not last long. Allied traffic has not been affected.

Army officials said other small convoys will be sent along the highway Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Cynthia Booth has established the Tigoni Primate Research Center, a laboratory for the study of monkeys, on a farm near Nairobi, Kenya.

$72 Million To Be Spent On A-Plant

An estimate of the Atomic Energy Commission is that upward of $72 million will probably be spent on the Sheldon Station nuclear power plant at Hallam.

The AEC's 1962 financial report shows more than $66 million has been spent so far.

Denny Cochran, assistant superintendent at Sheldon Station, said the $72 million apparently does not include a $7 million conventional boiler installed by Consumers Public Power District and which was not part of its contractual agreement with AEC.

Through June 30, AEC had contributed $47.6 million to the cooperative nuclear reactor plant. That included $15.6 million for research and development, $29.4 million for plant, equipment and land, and $2.6 million for fuel fabrication.

The AEC figures showed that Consumers Public Power District, which will operate the station, spent $18.8 million on the project through June 30 for plant, equipment and land.

Uganda Property Values Hold Steady

Fort Portal, Uganda (AP) — Property values are holding steady in Uganda, in sharp contrast to its neighbors to the east and the west.

Uganda became independent Oct. 9, but there has been no large scale evacuation by white people. Nor has there been any panic selling.

"This is a tribute to the generally favorable relations between the races," a Kampala real estate man said.

"Most non-Africans are staying in Uganda. The homes of those that are leaving are being bought up by newcomers or by Africans. But the prices are remaining steady. You can't get a big bargain here just because of independence."

This same situation does not exist in Kenya, to the east nor in the Congo, to the west.

Kenya, which expects to become independent from Great Britain next year or in 1964, is already feeling the effects of impending self-government. New people coming into the country are decreasing. Many white settlers are leaving the country, fearing the upcoming takeover by the Africans.

Passenger ships leaving the main port of Mombasa are booked for months in advance.

Advertisements in East African newspapers tell the story. Cattle auctioneers are exceptionally busy in Kenya.

Bitter anti-white feelings have existed in Kenya before and after the Mau Mau uprising. The latest movement to cause unrest among the whites is the Land Freedom Army, an organization devoted to ridding Kenya of the non-African.

The LFA has oath-taking similar to the old Mau Mau days and recently several hundred guns and rounds of ammunition were confiscated from members during police raids in the rift valley area.

The Congo is the most prominent example of an African country that has not regained its stride since independence in 1960. Thousands of Belginas evacuated the country during a reign of terror following independence. Some have started to trickle back since but not enough to give the country the needed economic boost. Vacant stores and beautiful homes, once owned by Belgians and other Europeans are still a common sight in many Congolese cities.

The Uganda, on the other hand, not one racial incident marred this country's peaceful independence celebrations.

Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, the old "burning spear" of African nationalism, toured Uganda during independence days. He gave his usual anti-European and anti-Indian tirades but most of his audiences were apathetic to his strong views.

They'll Back Cuba

Tokyo (AP) — Peiping's top theoretical magazine declared Communist China will "support Cuba by taking every possible step."

De Gaulle Staying On As French Chief

Paris (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday called the results of Sundap's referendum satisfactory — clearly showing tha he has no present intention of quitting.

During the referendum campaign, De Gaulle pleaded for a big "Yes" vote for his proposal to elect his successors by universal suffrage. He said he could not carry on if the results were "weak, mediocre, or doubtful."

At the cabinet meeting Wednesday, De Gaulle apparently made no reference to his threat to step aside. A communique on the deliberations said "the president of the republic underlined the great significance of the positive response given by the nation to the question that was posed."

Voters who went to the polls on Sunday approved the direct election proposal with a 62% "Yes" answer. Counting stay-at-homes and "No" votes however, only about 47% of the total number of registered voters lined up behind De Gaulle's plan.

The communique indicated that De Gaulle had focused on the "Yes" vote and expressed the opinion that "a large majority is resolutely turned toward the political renovation of the nation, a necessary condition for the progress and prestige of France."

A spokesman said de Gaulle would address the nation by radio and television next Wednesday.

U.S. UNEMPLOYMENT TAKES A SHARP DROP

Washington (UPI) — Unemployment fell sharply in October to 3,294,000 a 3-year low, the government announced Wednesday. The number of persons with jobs rose seasonally by 225,000 to 68,893,000, a record for the month.

A drop of 218,000 in the number of unemployed, about 4 times a purely seasonal September-October decline, lowered the jobless rate from 5.8 to 5.5% of the labor force. The rate averaged 5.5% from February to July, then jumped to 5.8% for two months.

These were the key facts in a labor department report on the job situation in October. They did not alter the general pattern which has persisted since last spring —no real reduction in the jobless rate but stability of employment at a high, gradually rising level.

With the congressional elections only 6 days away, labor secretary W. Willard Wirtz supplemented his department's regular monthly report with a special statement. He said the October figures "show a substantial improvement in the economy since January, 1961," when President Kennedy took office.

But Wirtz noted, the economy still is operating below capacity and "there are still too many unemployed workers in the nation."

A normal seasonal dip in unemployment from September to October would have been about 50,000. The actual decline was 218,000. Consequently, the jobless rate, which is adjusted to take account of the normal seasonal pattern, fell from the relatively high August-September perch of 5.8%.

The department said the decline in unemployment occurred chiefly among adult women, among whom unemployment had risen in September. Jobless rates of 4½% for adult men and 13⅓% for teenagers were virtually unchanged from September.

Aid Promised India

Lake Work Progressing

Columbus — Construction is proceeding according to schedule on the new 200-acre addition to Lake Babcock 5 miles north of here, according to Rayal Clark, hydraulic engineer for the Loup Power District.

Clark said a total of 660,000 cubic yards of earth would be dug from the lake area and compacted into dikes and dams surrounding it. A good percentage of this work is done, he reported, with more progress every day of good weather.

The new lake will be used to store water to use at the Columbus generating facilities of Loup Power District, during periods of peak need.

Clark said present plans call for full development of the lake as a recreation area, with fishing, boating, water skiing and picnicking open to the public. He expects to begin impounding water sometime in the spring of 1963.

Contractor for the work is the Scott Construction Co. of Hickman.

Tiny Pump Shooting Medication Into Body Wins Clinical Society Award

Omaha (AP) — The premier award for individual investigation was awarded by the Omaha-Midwest Clinical Society Wednesday to a tiny pump that shoots food or medication into the body regularly.

The injections from the 1½-inch long pump are in proper amounts and there is no danger of clogging.

The pump was part of a display prepared by Dr. F. Lowell Dunn and Donald Bohlsen of the cardiovascular research laboratory of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

Also part of the exhibit was a project of the university athletic department which measured heart and blood activity of men in various degrees of exertion.

Three of the uses of the pump are shown in the exhibit.

Thirty scientific exhibits were prepared for the competition and judged by a committee which included guests lecturers at the society's annual assembly.

The premier winner award for excellence of presentation was the exhibit "sight rehabilitation" prepared by Drs. J. H. Judd and John G. Filkins of the Nebraska Lions Eye Bank Center at the University of Nebraska.

Dakota Saline Water Plant Inspection Set

Washington (AP) — The government's saline water conversion plant at Webster, S.D., has been shutdown for a detailed inspection after a full year of successful operation, the Interior Department announced Wednesday.

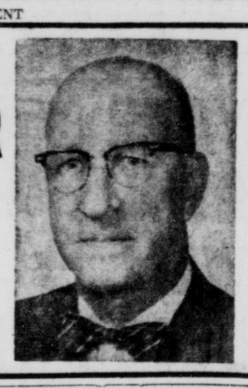

C. F. MacGowan, director of the office of saline water, said the shutdown will give the management and operating contractor, Mason-Rust Co., Lexington, Ky., an opportunity to evaluate the performance of the equipment and perform any necessary maintenance operations, including preventative maintenance, that may be indicated.

From this study and investigation, MacGowan said, the contractor will be able to prepare recommendations for process improvements and cost saving features to enhance further economies of plant operation.

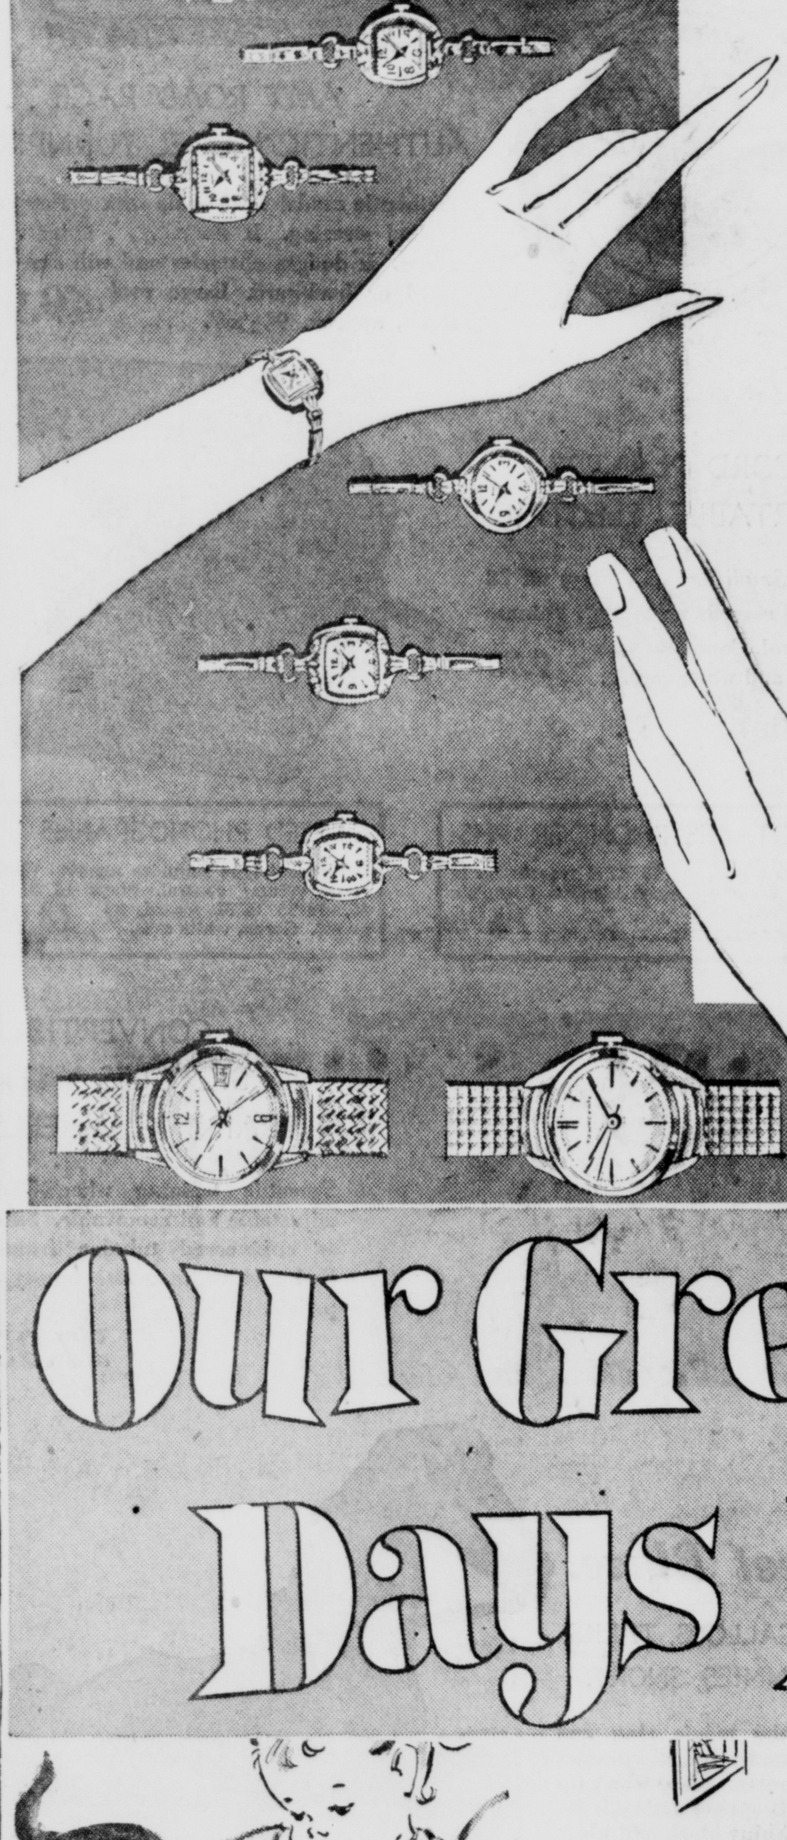

The Webster plant uses an electrodialysis process. It was placed in operation Oct. 20, 1961.

History Of Wesleyan Told In New Book

The story of Nebraska Wesleyan University through its early years is told in the first book off the newly-created Nebraska Wesleyan Press.

"Where Sunflowers Grew," by Professor Emritae Miss Ethel Booth was published this week.

Miss Booth, professor of English at Nebraska Wesleyan for 45 years, said the book is the story of dedication and wisdom on the part of the founders of the school.

For Anniversary

She said the project began soon after her retirement in 1959 when President Vance Rogers asked if she would write the story of Nebraska Wesleyan for use during the school's 75th anniversary this year.

"I wasn't too enthusiastic at first, because I didn't feel I wanted to turn my attention on the rear view mirror at this time," Miss Booth said.

"I thought I should be looking to the future.

But after a visit to the State Historical Society, I became fascinated with the material and found that there was a story I didn't know even after all the years of teaching at Wesleyan.

Equal To Any

"The founders were not just establishing a church school, but were trying to establish a school that was equal to any other institution in the United States."

Miss Booth said something "thrilled" her in the efforts to try to get the best faculty available for the new school, which opened its doors Sept. 25, 1888.

"The founders selected the first faculty of 11 from more than 200 applicants and offered a salary of $1,000-1,200; very good for the time," she said.

"If it would not have been for the dedication and courage of some brave men, the school would have died in the early years," Miss Booth recalled.

Plans call for Miss Booth to autograph first edition copies Friday afternoon in the Campus Center during Homecoming registration. Books will go on sale at that time.

FUR PRODUCTS LABELED TO SHOW COUNTRY OF ORIGIN OF IMPORTED FURS

THESE VALUES STARTED 60 YEARS AGO WITH J. C. PENNEY. They started with a man. They started with an idea. VALUES that were service. VALUES that knew no limits...not in the efforts buyers made to seek them out...or the Penney Company took to test them...not in the careful figuring to bring them down to the absolute minimum in price. The idea grew...brought forth in one store, spreading to 1700.

And the Penney Company never stopped looking and learning and leading in bringing America VALUES...not for 3 generations. To thank America for the overwhelming response to our efforts, to herald the promise of even better values with better service, Penney's looks to the next 60 years starting with this great event.

Moderate To Lead Tanganyikans

Dar Es Sallaam, Tanganyika (AP) — Julius Nyerere, perhaps the gentlest and most moderate of African leaders, is to be elected president of Tanganyika this weekend.

He will have almost dictatorial powers, including the authority to detail persons without trial. If he misuses these powers he will dispel a widespread belief, because for years Nyerere has been known as the African leader with the broad view, the tolerant approach, the touch of genius.

Nobody in Tanganyika, not even Nyerere's opponent, seriously believes Nyerere can lose the election. His Tanganyika African National Union (TANU) blankets the country with local organizations.

Independence

Nyerere obtained independence for Tanganyika last December, years earlier than expected, largely because of his moderation. Despite his cherubic appearance, the 39-year-old political leader is a father figure. In fact, he often is referred to as father of the nation.

Before independence he enchanted United Nations delegations and the British officials administering the U.N. with his unruffled confidence, his sensible views. He served a few weeks as prime minister of the new nation then abruptly resigned. He kept a firm hand on TANU, the only real unifying force in the nation.

Often the capital has been deserted by all cabinet ministers as TANU leaders spread out, encouraging the concept sadly lacking throughout Africa, a national consciousness.

Consults

Rashidi Kawawa, who succeeded Nyerere as prime minister, takes few decisions without consulting him.

Many who have know Nyerere for years are not worried by the great power he will wield in his new office as president when a new republican government is installed Dec. 9. They insist he has not changed, that he is consistent in his views.

Zuberi Mtemvu, Nyerere's opponent in the election, is 34 and president of the extremist African National Congress. He helped to organize TANU and then disagreed with Nyerere.

Strictly African

David Masanja, acting secretary general of the congress, says Mtemvu, if elected, would run a strictly African government based on tribal customs of the past. None of the 120,000 Asians or 22,000 Europeans would be registered as citizens.

JULIUS NYERERE

"We hate a multiracial government," he explains.

Masanja said the party favors an alliance with President Nasser of Egypt and one armed force for all Africa.

Sitting in an expensive silk shirt in a small, dingy office of the African section of Dar Es Salaam is a more shadowy figure in Tanganyika's political picture, Christopher Tumbo.

Sudden Return

Tumbo, only 28, was the Tanganyikan high commissioner in London until a few months ago. He resigned his post suddenly, returned to Dar Es Salaam, declaring the Tanganyika government was being "geared to totalitarianism" and seemed to be heading toward "Mussolini fascism."

In an interview, Tumbo called the preventive detention law a "cowardly act." He attacked the new trade union law which, he said, made the Tanganyika Federation of Labor a government federation.

Chambers Co. Apparent Low Water Bidder

Chambers Construction Co. was the apparent low bidder at $46,664 on Water District 730 for the new Hoppe Heights residential subdivision near 48th and LaSalle, city officials said Wednesday.

Other bidders were Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $47,970; H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co., $47,381; and N. L. Cole Construction Co., $47,150.40.

N. L. Cole was apparent low bidder at $25,645.92 for Sewer District 593 for Hoppe Heights, but city officials said the bid form contained possible defects and would be reviewed by the law department.

Apparent second low bidder was Chambers at $26,772 on the sewer project. Other bidders were Bookstrom, $29,312, and Dobson, $28,981.

Pioneer Paving Co. was low bidder on paving for the Water and Light Department service yard at 27th and Center at $11,527. Dobson Bros. bid $11,862.

City officials said recommendations on the bids would be made Monday to the City Council.

Question Facts

Bellingham, Wash. (UPI) Ben H. Sefrit, chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the Allied Daily Newspapers of Washington, said that the government's admission of managing news will cause newspapers to "question the facts of every government release."

Following Children

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Kids who visit the observation balcony at Standiford Field to watch the big airliners slip in under the pay turnstile. Airport officials don't mind a bit. The children usually draw their parents after them and it's a dime for big people.

Dealing In Steel

Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—The Pima County Board of Supervisors was offered a real deal when Mrs. Lucy Palermo said she'd sell them 5,000 pounds of steel for just $600.

Mrs. Palermo bought the steel for $100 when the county auctioned it for unpaid taxes.

About this time three years ago, I flew into the drab Moscow airport on a British plane with 30 passengers.

I flew out with only 15—for a curious but enlightening reason.

These are the days of crisis. My older daughter phones from school: "What are the Russians going to do?"

The radio fills her with alarm. She was born during war. Schooled on Korea. The front pages of her life have been Berlin, Laos, Cuba. Heavy, heavy over our children's heads hang The Stockpiles.

I wish I knew what everybody was going to do. I would tell my child. Then I would phone the President and tell him.

☆ ☆ ☆

"The only predictable thing about the Russian is that he never considers the deal is closed, that the bargain is struck," said the British airline representative.

We were sitting in the Metropole Hotel in Moscow. Drinking a dismal fizzy thing with a plum label on the bottle.

He was explaining to me why I could not get out on the next plane even though it had only a 15-passenger load.

Moscow was choking with a dripping, humid heat. The food was as uninspired as a report on tractor production. There was no gayety in the restaurants—and the story was over.

"A few years ago," said the Englishman, "we signed a treaty of reciprocal landing rights—very ordinary sort of thing.

"We could land in Moscow. The Russians could fly Airflot commercial planes into London. A few provisions such as passengers were not allowed to take photos from the plane. But nothing complicated.

"Now all planes for safety sake must have alternate landing fields.

"If a field is closed by weather, the pilot has an alternate.

"We refueled at Copenhagen and had two alternates in Russia.

"Airflot had the same arrangement."

☆ ☆ ☆

"Now when we began operating, it seemed the Russian fuel had to be processed by a sort of strainer before our planes could use it.

"We applied for permission to fly one in.

"'Oh, no,' said the Russians. 'That was not in the agreement. We agreed to landing rights but not to processing machines.'

"As you can imagine," said the Englishman, "this took a long time. Papers went through channels. Through Ambassadors. And it took a long time for them to say no."

☆ ☆ ☆

"The next thing that happened was that the Russians informed us that our two alternate fields were closed for repairs. The repairs are still going on. And probably will go on forever.

"Therefore, we fly in here with all the fuel we can carry—enough to carry in 30 passengers. But only enough to fly out 15 because of the weight problem.

"Our only alternate airfield is Copenhagen itself.

"This puts Airflot in a very good competitive position. They can fly out fully loaded. Any field in Russia is an alternate for them. Our fuel in London suits their machines.

☆ ☆ ☆

"As an additional attraction, all outgoing seats must be booked through Airflot. They are the original agents before us.

"If you book your seats with us, your exit papers are often slow. If you book with Airflot, they seem to clear quite rapidly."

News Directive Creates Storm

. . . AROUND PENTAGON

Washington (AP)—A written directive to the Pentagon's military and civilian personnel to report to public information officials what they tell newsmen in interviews blew up a storm Wednesday.

The memorandum, addressed to Defense Department personnel, was issued by Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense in charge of public affairs.

It instructed all personnel to report to him or other "appropriate public information offices" at the close of each day the substance of each interview or telephone conversation held with a newsman. If a representative of the department's public information office was present during the interview, no report would be needed, Sylvester's memorandum said.

Incensed

Reporters covering the Pentagon already were incensed in the belief that news on the ship blockade and aerial surveillance of Cuba was withheld in some instances. They also recalled that Sylvester had acknowledged there was administration control of the flow and type of news. Sylvester said this had enabled the government to "speak with one voice" during the Cuban crisis.

When newsmen assembled for a regular briefing Wednesday, a barrage of questions was directed at a spokesman about the Sylvester memorandum.

Some wanted to know if strict application of the policy adopted by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara soon after he took office didn't mean that Pentagon personnel no longer would dare to talk with a newsman for fear of reprisal.

Responsibilities

The Sylvester memorandum, in addition to saying that the current world situation had placed additional responsibilities on the public information officers to avoid disclosure of things that might affect national security, also said that:

It is important to disclose all information which can be released appropriately to the public.

How could application of the instructions to all personnel to report interviews to the public information offices promote the expeditious announcement of information? Reporters asked the spokesman.

Answers

The spokesman's answers included these:

1. The policy is not new, it is only a "formalization in writing of a rather informal procedure" that had been followed since the beginning of the McNamara administration.

2. This means no change in the procedure used by reporters in covering the Pentagon—"I can't see that it will limit you in seeing people," he said, "and it is not intended to inhibit Pentagon personnel from talking to newsmen.

No Penalty

3. There is no plan of which the spokesman knows for penalizing a military man or civilian who talks to a newsman but fails to report it to an appropriate information office.

Actually the tempest which arose over the written memorandum was not the first. Almost this same procedure had been tried before.

In 1955, the late Charles E. Wilson, then secretary of defense, sent out word that newsmen shouldn't be permitted to talk to officials, technical experts and others unless an interview was arranged specifically through the Pentagon's director of public information.

Prussian Helped In Massacre

Coblenz, Germany (UPI) — A Prussian baron, who was a member of the German Red Cross when arrested on war crime charges, admitted Wednesday that he took part in the massacres of Russian Jews as a Nazi SS (elite corps) officer.

Eberhard Baron Von Toll, 56, is one of 12 former SS officers on trial here for the murder of 70,000 Jews, Gypsies and other "enemies" of the Third Reich in Russia during World War II. He is charged specifically with 100 slayings.

A descendant of Prussian nobility, Von Toll told the court that he was "sickened" at first by Adolph Hitler's early persecution of the Jews. But he admitted taking part in 3 mass shootings of Jews in the Minsk area during the Russian campaign.

The judges barred all school-age children from the courtroom after another defendant described how he helped burn 3 persons alive with his "perfect" incineration system.

The ban brought protests from many persons attending the trial. They said they felt the court should remain open to give young Germans a graphic picture of Hitler's Germany.

Kiewit Says He Was Rebuffed On First Try To Buy World-Herald

By ROBERT G. HOIG

Omaha (UPI) — Contractor Peter Kiewit revealed Thursday he was rebuffed in his first approach at buying the 77-year-old Omaha World-Herald and related properties.

Kiewit, who said he had no idea the paper was for sale until several weeks ago, said he had nothing against the rumored buyer, publisher Samuel I. Newhouse, "except he lives in New York instead of Omaha."

"I asked for the privilege of looking over the earnings figures of the World-Herald's news corporation and they refused to give them," Kiewit said.

He quoted W. Dale Clark, chairman of the World Publishing Co., as saying the directors were not interested. "I was told they had a buyer and were satisfied with his offer and weren't interested in any other offer," Kiewit said.

"I had no idea until October 12 when I was flying back from California that the paper was even for sale," he said. Kiewit bought a Wall Street Journal during a brief Denver stopover, saw the story, and mulled the idea in his mind during the rest of the trip.

"I called Mr. Clark the following Tuesday," Kiewit said. When he was refused the company's earnings report, Kiewit said, "Others spent from then to the 26th of October getting some financial information for us to look at."

He was impressed with the figures, Kiewit said, and had in addition an admiration for the tradition of home management of the paper.

'Come See Me'

Kiewit called Clark Oct. 26 to report he had the necessary information. "Fine," Kiewit quoted Clark as saying, "you had better come on down to see me."

The two spent this past Sunday in a day-long conference, ironing out details.

Kiewit said he understood the Newhouse offer was "in excess of $40 million."

"I don't have all the figures, but our offer was several hundred thousand dollars more than Mr. Newhouse's," he said.

He said he received several expressions of concern from other Nebraska and Iowa newspaper owners over the possibility that control of the paper would pass to interests outside the area.

Kiewit, who will become a director of the holding company, said he wanted to emphasize that only stockholders of the employee-owned Peter Kiewit Sons Co. were purchasers and that no outside money was involved.

Being Earnest

He said he presented the World Publishing Co. with a check for $2 million to show he was earnest. The remainder will be presented in a check Jan. 7, he said.

Kiewit also announced two building plans for the new company. An addition of at least two stories will be built at the 13th and Dodge streets corner of the present World-Herald building. The corner is presently a parking lot.

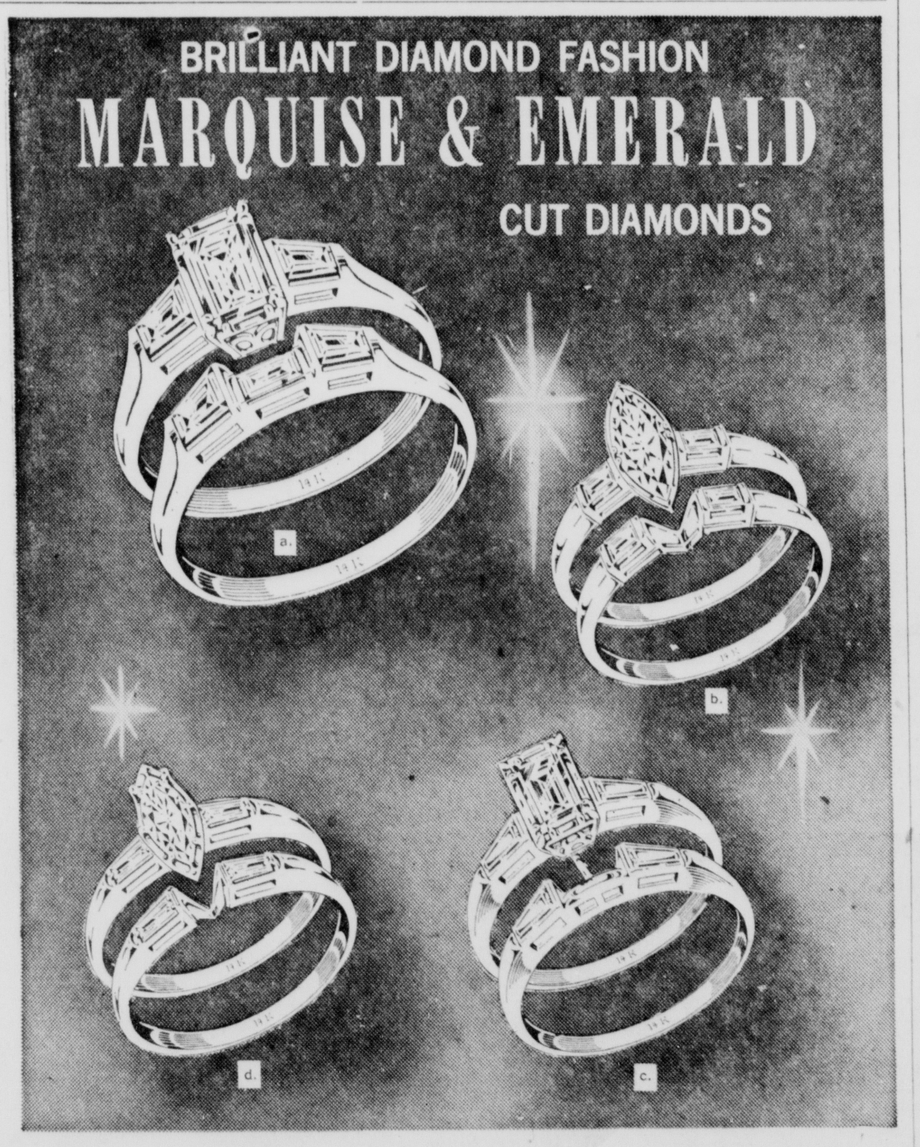

"We have pending an application for a joint effort by KETV and KFAB to build a 1,500-foot tower," he said.

School Dropouts Are Rated Big National Problem

By GERRY WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

The problem of unemployed youth and school dropouts is "second only" to the problem of the nuclear fallout.

This has been emphasized by the National Council of Juvenile Judges and the problem apparently has a direct effect on crime in Lancaster County.

The national council pointed out at its annual conference this year that the amount of crime, delinquency and unemployement will be affected by the way the school dropout problem is handled and the opportunities for "useful, satisfying employment" offered to out-of-school youth.

In Lancaster County alone, during the 1961-62 fiscal year, 134 of the 168 persons convicted of felonies had not completed high school.

Of the other 34, only 3 had some college, only one being a college graduate.

The real problem rests, according to the national council, with school dropouts having less to offer employers than any other group in the labor market.

They are also less likely to obtain employment since they usually have no special training or experience and the vast number of unemployed youths will eventually result in an increased rate of delinquency and crime throughout the nation.

Studies show that only two out of 3 young people graduate from high school and that 7,800,000 juveniles will drop out of school before graduation in the next decade.

About half the felons recently convicted in Lancaster County dropped out of school before the 10th grade. The latest figures show that 31 men who had finished the 12th grade were convicted of felonies, as well as 23 who had finished the 11th; 24 who had finished the 10th; 31 the 9th; 23 the 8th; 19 the 7th; 4 the 6th; two the 5th, and one the 4th.

Tests indicate millions of those who will be dropping out of school in the next decade are capable of graduating from high school and many are capable of benefiting from many kinds of vocational training.

In the last fiscal year, 19 men in Lancaster County were convicted of felony offenses of failure to support children in compliance with divorce decrees.

Of these, the average schooling completed was between the 8th and 9th grades, which limits the types of jobs available and the potential income of the men.

In these cases, it is to the advantage of all concerned, including society itself, according to Adult Probation Officer Paul Beave and Lancaster District judges to place the defendant on probation, which includes helping him find a job and seeing that he supports his children.

However, as pointed out above, the number of available jobs is limited, and often the defendant is not eligible for probation if he has had a previous felony conviction.

Listed below are the felony convictions for the 1961-62 fiscal year and the average grade completed by the offenders:

Crime	Number convicted	Average grade completed
Forgery	24	9-10
Issuing fraudulent checks	28	10

Guard, Army '61 Extensions Are Now Over

National Guardsmen and Army reservists who had their enlistments extended last fall for one year because of the Berlin crisis are eligible for discharge.

Col. Donald G. Penterman, Nebraska assistant adjutant general, and a 16th Army Corps spokesman in Omaha said the extension release was included in an Army bulletin dated Oct. 17.

The information has been forwarded to all guard and reserve units in Nebraska.

Penterman said many men who were eligible for discharge during the latter part of 1961 and early this year had their enlistments extended during the Berlin crisis for one year from what would have been their discharge date. He said these men may be discharged now if they wish.

He said this applies to both those who had been called to active service and those who were not.

Penterman said he does not expect the guard to experience any sharp cut in strength because of men asking for discharge.

The 16th Corps spokesman said it could not be predicted how the early release would affect reserve strength in the state.

Want A Smart Bunuy?

Albany, N.Y. (AP)—Anyone want a wild rabbit with a first-grade education?

Look, oh look. Look at the baby rabbit in Mrs. Arthur Layman's class in the first grade at Loudonville Elementary School.

"Hoppy" is his name. He's been in the classroom 6 weeks now, since 6th-grader Stephen Pentak found the baby rabbit's mother had been killed by an automobile.

Stephen knew what to do. He brought the frightened baby animal to the school principal, Mrs. Edgar Dickinson.

Mrs. Dickinson knew what to do. She put the problem in Mrs. Layman's lap.

Mrs. Layman knew what to do. She loves animals.

"We decided to take care of the baby rabbit and to incorporate it into our natural science program," she explains.

Look. Look. Oh, look at the children bringing grass and clover to school for Hoppy. Look at Hoppy wash himself every day like a pussy cat. Everyone should wash himself every day. Look. Look. Look.

Mrs. Layman used a hot-water bottle to keep Hoppy warm during his first month of baby life. She fed him warm evaporated milk through an eye dropper. Hoppy is now fed with a doll's baby bottle and nipple.

"We use evaporated milk, a little water and some pablum now with a touch of maple syrup. And we warm the bottle," Mrs. Layman says (a research project at Bellevue Hospital in New York City has shown babies thrive equally well on cold bottles.)

At the end of the school day, Mrs. Layman and Miss Mary Ann Knuck, a student teacher from Oswego, take turns carrying Hoppy home so that he can be kept warm and fed at night.

"He's just like a little baby. He makes noises and scratches when his feeding time comes around," the teachers say.

LOOK, LOOK, SEE THE BUNNY RABBIT EAT A BIT OF THE APPLE.

Estes' Defense Tries To Shake Witness

Tyler, Tex. (UPI)—Defense lawyers attempted Wednesday to shake a key prosecution witness from his testimony that Billie Sol Estes gave false inducement to agree to a complicated mortgage deal involving 75 fertilizer tanks.

Estes, 37, bankrupt former boy wonder of West Texas farm and finance circles, is on trial on state charges of theft, theft by bailee and swindling in connection with the transaction.

The prosecution witness was Pecos, Tex., farmer T. J. Wilson, whom Estes is accused of swindling. The defense pursued a line of questioning attempting to show that Wilson changed his mind and agreed to the mortgage agreement because Estes gave him a $7,500 bonus rental payment.

Defense attorneys also read from a petition filed by Wilson in a civil suit against CIT Corp. The defense said that nowhere in the civil suit did Wilson allege misrepresentation by Estes.

The state countered that the civil suit was drafted by Wilson's attorney and had no connection with the state case.

A jury of 11 men and one woman is hearing the trial, in the court of State Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan.

Adults Have Halloween Fun

The best-dressed ghosts and goblins had quite a fashion show last evening when they appeared at a Halloween party for which Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Giebelhaus were hosts at their home.

The party was held in the barn—at least it began in the barn. After the 50 guests had assembled there was roll call for a scavenger hunt which took the costumed guests hither and yon.

Eventually the hunters returned to the barn, with or without their specified articles, and there was more Halloween fun.

At the close of the evening there was a barbecue supper.

Mother's Club

A program on scholarship presented by Mrs. Edwin Steckley will highlight the monthly meeting of the Alpha Omicron Pi Mothers Club, to be held Thursday at the home of Mrs. L. F. Seaton, 3175 Woodsdale.

Mrs. Clifford Otto is chairman for the luncheon assisted by Mrs. A. F. Christensen, Mrs. A. Kleinert, Mrs. L. Andrews, Mrs. Jesse G. Faes, Mrs. Maurice Justice and Mrs. Karl Ebner.

Coffee Series

A series of two coffees for parents of kindergarten pupils was held Wednesday morning and afternoon at Lakeview School.

At each coffee, a talk and films on the new report card system was given by Donald Hobbs, principal.

Senior Girl Scout Conference

Senior Girl Scouts of the Jay-Husker Council will be hostesses on Saturday and Sunday at the annual Senior Girl Scout conference of eastern Nebraska, to be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

More than 200 are expected to attend the conference which will open at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning with Miss Beth Preece of Lincoln, conference chairman, presiding.

Conference speakers will include Mrs. Richard Putney, Jay-Husker Council president; the Rev. John Knight of Lincoln; State Senator Fern Orme; and Dr. Otto G. Hoiberg of the University of Nebraska.

Exhibits and demonstration booths will stress emergency preparation, and talks will be given by George Drake of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Civil Defense, and Miss Ethel Murray, chairman of Red Cross disaster nursing.

Featured speaker Saturday evening will be Mrs. Frank Morrison, and films and reports on the Senior Round-Up at Button Bay, Vt., last summer will be given.

Presiding at the closing session on Sunday morning will be Miss Nancy Willits of Fairbury, conference vice chairman. Other conference officers are Jeanette Hoffman and Linda Salisbury, Lincoln, and Miss Susan Eickman of Crete. Conference advisor is Miss Sandra Carter, University of Nebraska student.

DAR Board Has Meeting

Meeting Saturday at the Hotel Yancey in Grand Island was the board of management of the Nebraska Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Herbert H. Selleck, Alliance, state regent, presided at the annual meeting, and also was featured speaker at the noon luncheon.

State officers met during the morning hours, while state chairmen and regents of DAR chapters in Nebraska held an informal discussion.

Plans were made for the society's annual state conference, March 25 and 26, in Lincoln, at which Mrs. Robert V. H. Duncan of Virginia, president general of DAR, will be special guest.

Among those attending the board meeting from Lincoln were Mrs. B. C. McLean, state registrar, and regents of the two Lincoln chapters, Mrs. William Folger, Deborah Avery Chapter, and Mrs. Levi Wilcox, St. Leger Cowley Chapter.

Square Dance Club Parties

Members of Lincoln square dance clubs will participate in the festivities of the Homecoming week end by entertaining on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Marriage Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Edna E. Keal of Lincoln to Floyd F. Trowbridge of San Jose, Calif., which took place at 11 o'clock, the morning of Friday, Oct. 19.

The ceremony was solemnized at the First Methodist Church in Palo Alto, Calif., with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillips serving as attendants.

Following a honeymoon trip through southern California Mr. Trowbridge and his bride returned to Lincoln where they are residing at 531 So. 55th St.

Mrs. Trowbridge is a member of the Southeast High School faculty.

Had Autumn Wedding

The wedding of Miss Cheryl Sue Duis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Duis of Arlington, Va., formerly of Lincoln, and John Henry Sammons, son of Mrs. Stanley Sammons of Albany, Tex., took place on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 14, at St. Dunstan's Church, Episcopal, in Washington, D.C. The ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Carl Harris, assisted by the Rev. A. J. Duis of Waco, Tex., uncle of the bride.

The maid of honor and her sister's only attendant was Miss Deanne Duis who was frocked in crimson peau de soie fashioned in the after-five mode. A whimsy cap of red illusion and a muff of white chrysanthemums completed her ensemble.

Serving as best man was Richard Stafford of Arlington, Va., and seating the guests were Tom McCullough of Albany, Tex., and William Neinkamp of Crete.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of ivory brocade in the cotillion length. A shoulder-wide decolletage and fitted, bracelet sleeves accented the basque, and the bell skirt was caught into the fullness of unpressed pleats. A coronet of seed pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried her grandmother's wedding kerchief and a white prayer book clustered with white orchids.

The bride is a senior at Sibley Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Arlington, and Mr. Sammons, a former student at Texas A and M College, is a bio-chemist at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md.

PTA Board

The board members of Brownell PTA will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the library of the new school building.

You may be surprised at the offerings of some pattern catalogues. Several readers have asked me where to find patterns for dog coats. These are found in the section usually labeled "Toys and Gifts." If you have never gone beyond the clothes sections in the catalogues, flip through them some day and you may see many of the things you've wanted to make, but haven't been able to do so without a pattern.

Q. How do I make curtains for a door type of window? I want them stretched on rods and drawn in at the middle with a band.—Mrs. H. L. S.

A. Cut a piece of fabric 1½ to two times the width of each window. The length should be the distance between the rods, plus three inches for top and bottom casings, plus one inch. Stitch side hems. Turn top and bottom under 1½ inches and stitch forming casing. Make bands of matching or contrasting fabric. Place curtains on rods, sliding rods through top and bottom casings. Then just place bands around centers of curtains and tack, snap or pin in the back.

☆ ☆ ☆

Q. I've just purchased some laminated jersey. Must it always be lined? I have never worked on this before and don't know what to do about the laminated being next to the skin.—Miss P. C.

A. All laminated fabrics should be lined. Such finishines have a spongy feel and will stick or cling to the skin. Not only will it be very uncomfortable, but the garment will not fall properly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Q. I was so pleased with your slipcover instructions, but I was on vacation and missed the second in the series. Please tell me how I can get the full set.—Mrs. P. H.

A. Very shortly you'll be able to send for a booklet with complete slipcover instructions.

☆ ☆ ☆

Q. Should I line a dress of tissue faille? If so, with what material? — Mrs. F. L. H.

A. Tissue faille should be lined, because it has a tendency to stretch. Use any one of the following fabrics: china silk, siri, veri-form.

The real test of a partnership is its skill in arriving at sound slam contracts. The bonuses for slams are large enough to adequately reward accuracy in bidding.

The North-South cards in this hand from a team match certainly warrant a grand slam in clubs. The chance of going down is practically nil. Yet it is a fact that only a small percentage of players would reach the grand slam, and some, perhaps, might not even reach a small slam.

The bidding shown occurred at the first table. After North bid a heart and South two clubs, North jumped to three diamonds. The jump-shift was surely justified by the favorable club response. North's hand rose greatly in value, once a club fit was discovered, and he wanted to identify not only his all-around values, but also where his strength lay.

South jumped to four hearts to show the heart fillers, but it might have been wiser to make a waiting bid of three hearts or four clubs to see where North was heading.

North couldn't do more than jump to six clubs, lacking the intermediate cards in hearts and clubs. South passed, but he shouldn't have. He had a clearcut seven bid.

Holding the K-Q of both vital suits, he should have realized that North couldn't have a spade lower, or he wouldn't have been able to jump the bidding twice. South should have shown more faith in partner's bidding.

At the second table the grand slam was reached in this fashion:

North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	2♣	Pass
3♦	Pass	3♥	Pass
3♠	Pass	6♣	Pass
7♣

The three spade bid showed first-round control of spades — hearts having tentatively been agreed upon as trump. South didn't know North's plans, but leaped to six clubs to encourage seven in case North had been suppressing a club fit. North was pleased to accept the challenge.

Dear Abby

Better Buy Blades

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was born in Europe and have not been long in your country. In Italy the ladies do not shave the hair from their legs. I do not think hair on the legs looks bad but my husband asks me daily to remove it please. I do not remove it because if I once begin I will of necessity be forced to continue to shave or I will carry needles like a porcupine. In June my husband told me if I did not shave my legs he would grow a beard. I thought he was making a joke but he has not shaved his face and now he has a thick beard. I have not kissed him since he got the beard. He told me to write to Abby. How can you help?

FROM ROMA

DEAR FROM ROMA: Surely you recall, "When in Rome . . ."? Over here shaggy female limbs are conspicuous. Your husband is trying to do you a favor — and he's growing a fur piece to do it. By the way, a kissless marriage is a shaky one. How are you two fixed for blades?

DEAR ABBY: My 55-year-old husband paws every young girl who comes near him. He gets worse every year. It's not just a "fatherly" pat on the shoulder, either. I try to ignore it, but some of the girls have complained to me about it. Is there anything I can do?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes. You can speak to him about it. If he doesn't cut it out you tell his doctor about it. Only sick old men behave this way.

DEAR ABBY: When a girl invites a boy to church, who puts the money in the collection plate—the boy, the girl, or both of them?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: Both of them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a rugged, athletic man with a minor problem. I have manicures regularly and prefer the colorless nail polish to buffing. (My manicurist says that buffing tends to weaken them.) My wife teases me playfully, hinting that polished nails are effeminate, and she urges me to forget the polish. Do real he-men use nail polish, or don't they?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: SOME "real he-men" use nail polish. It's a matter of personal preference. However, let me be the buffer between you and your wife, and recommend that you skip the polish — only to please her.

COTNER TERRACE

Halloween and the Colorado migration are over, and Cotner Terrace neighbors are having a short rest before jumping into this week's big Nebraska Homecoming weekend.

Nevertheless, all is not quiet on the "northeastern front." Mrs. Rex Winders is very busy entertaining this week. Yesterday, she was a luncheon hostess at her home when she entertained in honor of the 85th birthday of her mother, Mrs. Eva Gillain. Guests for the luncheon and an afternoon of cards were the members of a regular bridge foursome to which Mrs. Gillain belongs. These included Mrs. Lena Betz, Mrs. Alvin Fink, and Mrs. Frank Gilmore.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Winders will entertain Lincoln members of the Gillain family at a dinner celebrating the occasion of Mrs. Gillain's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dolan entertained houseguests from the west-central part of the state last weekend. Arriving on Thursday and staying until Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walz and their children, Linda, Mike, David, and Brian.

The Lincoln visit provided the Walz family with plenty of time for sightseeing, shopping, and informal entertainment, before returning to their Stapleton home.

And while the Stapleton visitors were headed toward Lincoln, Cotner Terrace residents, the Rev. and Mrs. Forrest Morningstar, were on their way to the southern part of the state. They were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Springer in Aurora.

On Sunday, Miss Janet Springer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Springer, and a freshman at the University of Nebraska, returned to Lincoln with the Rev. and Mrs. Morningstar—to be on time for Monday classes after her weekend in Aurora.

KIMBALLCREST

Two Kimballcrest residents have returned home after a very delightful trip back East. Miss Burma Miskell and Miss Clara Miskell returned last weekend from an extensive tour through Boston, Cape Cod, and many other exciting places throughout New England.

Expected today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Guthrie are two University alumni who are returning for Nebraska's homecoming weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon, Mrs. Gutherie's son and daughter-in-law, are driving to Lincoln from their present home in White Bear Lake, Minn., and they will be bringing the younger generation of Gordons, Kimberly, Kari, and Kelli.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, (is the former Barbara Hof,) will take in all the Homecoming activities and will visit Mrs. Gordon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hof. They will return to White Bear Lake on Sunday.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Bristol, Okla. residents were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen H. Martin last week. Arriving a week ago Tuesday, were Mr. Martin's sister, Mrs. Shirley Morton and her children, Gayle and Dale.

On Friday, Mr. Martin decided to let the women and children "hold the fort," and he and a Sunnyside neighbor, Rex Bricker, left for Wolbach and two days of pheasant hunting. Also accompanying the Sunnyside pair on the trip were business associates of Mr. Martin, and Mr. Bricker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bricker.

The Lincoln "hunting party" joined relatives of Mr. Martin in Wolbach, who were "official" guides and advisors for the hunting excursion.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

And it's never too late to tell you about another Halloween party! This one was in Northeast Heights, and it was for the 14 members of Girl Scout troop 298. The party for the ten-year-olds was Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs Joseph Karanda. Mrs. Karanda was assisted in her hostessing by Mrs. Edwin Wilson, the Troop leader and neighborhood chairman.

The party was actually a double celebration, for the Troop also is celebrating its third birthday this month. To celebrate, the girls left their Girl Scout uniforms at home, donned Halloween costumes, and then proceeded to the Karanda home for supper, games, and a scavenger hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. West and their daughter, Ann, are entertaining an Auburn relative this week. Mrs. Faye Wren, Mrs. West's aunt, arrived in Lincoln last mid-week, and will be returning to Auburn this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. West and Ann will accompany their visitor back to Auburn where they will spend a short time with friends and relatives.

Here is a practical numerology puzzle that will give you a message every day. It is a little game designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number is less than 6 add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. (Distributed by King Features, Inc. Registered U.S. Patent Office)

. . . ILLEGAL TRANSPORTATION IS CAUSE

New York (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association slapped a two-year probationary period on the University of Dayton, 1962 National Invitation Tournament champion Wednesday primarily for illegal transportation provided former basketball prospect Roger Brown of New York.

Brown was not identified by the NCAA, but in Dayton, the Rev. Raymond A. Roesch, university president, confirmed he was the individual involved and said the incident resulted from 3 trips Brown made from Dayton to New York for an appearance in traffic court.

The president added: "The athletic department was motivated by what it judged to be a hardship case and felt that it was justified. We accept the penalty imposed by the NCAA committee on infractions and will continue to make every effort to abide by all the laws and by-laws of the NCAA."

Tops In East

Brown enrolled at the start of the 1960-61 school year at Dayton after being one of the most sought after high school prospects in the East.

He played with the Dayton freshmen team that year, which also was cited for abuses of NCAA rules, but left school after his involvement in last year's college basketball scandals. New York District Attorney Frank Hogan said Brown admitted accepting $250 from confessed gambler Joseph Hacken, now awaiting sentencing on 18 counts of bribery and conspiracy here, as a contact man for Hacken.

Brown's involvement in the scandal, however, had nothing to do with Wednesday's NCAA action, one of 3 disciplinary moves announced by Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, on the final day of the 3-day fall meeting of the association's policy-directing council.

Other Cases

In the other cases, the University of Florida and McMurry (Tex.) College drew reprimands, but no suspensions, for minor rules violations. Florida was censured because its basketball coach, Norman Sloan, recruited a student-athlete in 1960 from another college without obtaining permission from the other athletic director.

McMurry's slap came on two counts—that its 1961-62 basketball team played a game against the University of Corpus Christi on Nov. 29, 1961—two days before the permissable start of the season; and because the same team played 27 regular season games, one over the limit.

The action against Dayton, perennially one of the top independent basketball teams in the U.S., bars the Flyers from the NCAA post-season championships and the NIT for the full two years. The basketball team also is barred from so-called cooperating holiday tournaments, with one exception. If Dayton has signed a formal contract for a holiday tournament to be held during the period of its probation, it will be permitted to play in the tournament.

Invitation Accepted

Dayton has accepted an invitation to play in the 1963 ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden. Byers said it had not yet been determined whether a formal contract had been signed. If so, Dayton will be able to go through with its commitment.

The council's action against Dayton said that on 3 occasions during 1960-61, the school provided illegal financial assistance to the basketball prospect so that he could make trips to his home. Dayton also was found guilty of paying the prospect's transportation to the campus in Ohio for his enrollment.

A 3rd violation cited was an extra number of games played by the 1960-61 freshman team, of which the 6-5 Brown was a high-scoring member, along with the current ace of the Flyer squad, 6-10 Bill Chmielewski, named the NIT's Most Valuable Player last March.

Outside Team

Byers said the freshman team played 31 in-season games, not including the national AAU tournament in Denver in which the powerpacked frosh went to the semifinals before losing. Ten of the 31 games were played during the NCAA season for an outside organization called Paul's Tobacco Team. Byers pointed out that outside competition by individuals was not at the time a violation as such, but that the NCAA investigators and council had determined that the players and coaches from Dayton had performed essentially as a team for the outside club. It was coached by Herb Dintaman, Dayton's freshman coach.

Regarding the schedule, Fahter Oresch said there had never been any question in the past about games played by the freshman team. But he added: "The University Student Welfare Council recommended more than a year ago that the freshman basketball schedule be shortened and that no post-season games be scheduled. In accordance with this directive, the 1962-63 schedule already has been considerably curtailed."

The Florida player recruited illegally was not identified. Byers said however that the boy in question had transferred to Florida at the start of the 1960-61 school year, then had dropped out of school after a few weeks.

Sloan Reprimanded

Byers said both Florida and McMurry were especially cooperative when notified of the violations and that Florida had promptly reprimanded Sloan, who was new to coaching at the time of the infraction.

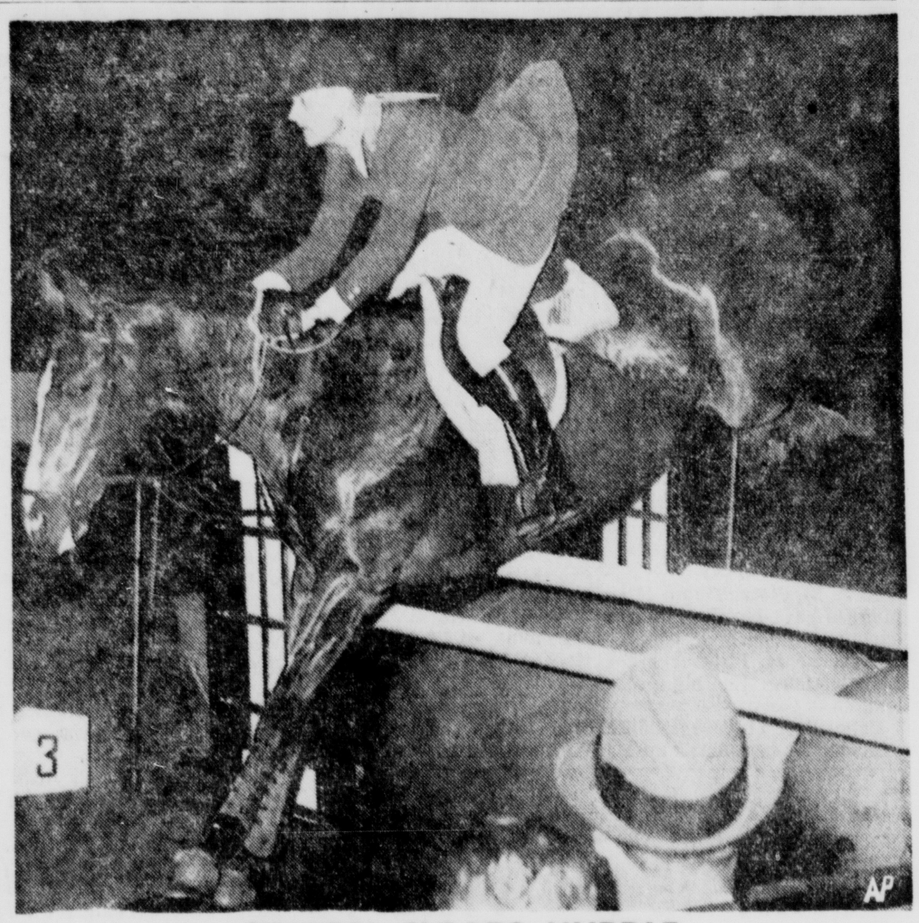

The action against Dayton brought to 8 the number of NCAA member schools currently on probation.

The others, suspended for varying periods, are Indiana, Colorado, New Mexico State, Tennessee Tech, Utah, Humboldt (Calif) State, and Whitworth (Wash).

The council Tuesday night, in the only previous infractions' move of the meeting, had terminated the probationary periods of Kansas and East Tennessee State.

At Gainesville, Fla., Dr. Harry Philpott, vice president of the University of Florida, issued a state saying the violation was inadvertent and will not happen again. He said "Coach Sloan sincerely regrets that this inadvertent violation of NCAA rules occurred. We are confident ahat such a violation will not occur again and reaffirm our full commitment to the rules and regulations of the NCAA."

The university did not release the name of the basketball player involved. The Associated Press learned he was Larry Kirk, who had attended Ball State Teachers College at Muncie, Ind.

SCARLET SALUTE:

Young Typical Of 1962 Version Of Cornhuskers

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Gene Young is typical of the Nebraska Cornhuskers who have proven this fall that they're capable of playing good football—if given the chance.

Last year Young, despite fine practice stints as an offensive fullback, carried the ball only 4 times for a total of 15 yards. Defensive lapses were noted as reasons for his idleness.

In 6 games this fall, Young has carried 47 times for 236 yards and a 5.0 average, ranking him 3rd in rushing behind Denny Claridge (271) and Willie Ross (237).

Young is clearly aware of the fact that he has moved into the Husker spotlight because of All Big 8 fullback Bill Thornton's injury plague—and that isn't the way he would have preferred.

"Don't compare me to Bill," he said. "I don't want that to happen at all."

Young feels improved blocking has helped him this year and he also thinks his defense "has been coming along a little better."

While the 217-pounder from Cleveland, Ohio, was reluctant to talk about his play this year, he didn't try to hide the sense of urgency that's prevalent in the Husker camp this week.

"I'm really looking forward to playing Missouri," Gene said. "In fact, I know the whole team is. We'll definitely be up for this game, no doubt about it."

Young made the trip to Columbia last year, but didn't see action as the Huskers were shut out for the 4th straight year. So he'll be getting his first crack at the Tigers Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

• "I don't think any of us are afraid of Missouri," Gene said. "I think we feel it will be an actual test to see just who is the best. It will be the first undefeated team we've played and the first time we've been undefeated for Missouri—really a big game."

The Husker fullback doesn't think Nebraska has been pointing especially for Missouri in recent weeks.

"We've thought about other teams," he said. "But deep inside, I think this is the way all of us wanted it (both undefeated). Now it's a case of proving which is the toughest of the two."

Young is an art major at the University. He was an all-around athlete at Glenville High in Cleveland, winning 3 letters in football, two in track and one in basketball. Gene stands 6 2, making him a potent force when he shifts into high gear.

NU therapist George Sullivan tells about Big 8 official Alex George after Young tore through the middle of the Colorado line for 14 yards, setting up the final TD on the Buff 2.

"Alex came to the sidelines and asked who that No. 44 was," Sullivan reports. "I told him it was Gene Young and Alex said, 'Man, where the hell did that guy come from?"

The answer is that Young came from the Husker ranks, like a lot of others this year who are filling in where needed and doing a fine job.

—TIGERS FIGURED TO GIVE TOUGH RUSH—

Huskers Concentrate On Protection For Passers

Coach Bob Devaney ordered some extra work on pass protection Wednesday afternoon as the Nebraska Cornhuskers continued preparations for the Big 8 showdown with Missouri.

The reason was simple — "Missouri is going to give us the toughest pass rush we've been against all season."

That's just one thing Devaney figures his Huskers will have to solve against the potent Tigers, coached by Dan Devine — a former staffmate of Bob's when both were at Michigan State.

"Statistics indicate we'll have to score several times," Devaney said. "It will take at least two touchdowns or more to win — and Missouri has a stronger defensive record."

The Husker coached also mulled over another problem: "Missouri has the most active line around, very quick. It will be the best line we've faced."

Devaney figures Missouri can pass considerably better than statistics reveal and he's not discounting the Tiger aerial threat.

"They can pass, you can be sure of that," he said.

But Devaney said the No. 1 task confronting the Huskers is slowing down Mizzou's rushing attack.

"We've got to stop their ground game," Bob said. "They can hit you with Bill Tobin and Johnny Roland on those wide sweeps and cutbacks — and they keep you honest in middle with fullback traps."

Thursday the Scarlets will work on their kicking game and final polishing.

Duda Hurt

NU Freshman coach John Melton got bad news Wednesday.

Husker frosh quarterback Ferdie Duda has turned up with fracture chips in a finger on his right hand, the result of an injury in the win over Kansas State.

Melton doesn't know when Duda will be ready for full duty. The NU Frosh play at Iowa State on Nov. 9.

OB Brass

Ernie Seiler and Jess Yarborough will be the Orange Bowl officials on hand Saturday to take notes on both the Huskers and the Tigers.

Seiler is executive vice-president and general manager — and the chap who dreams up the OB's spectacular halftime shows — while Yarborough is chairman of the Orange Bowl selection committee.

Tigers' Turner Shelved By Flu

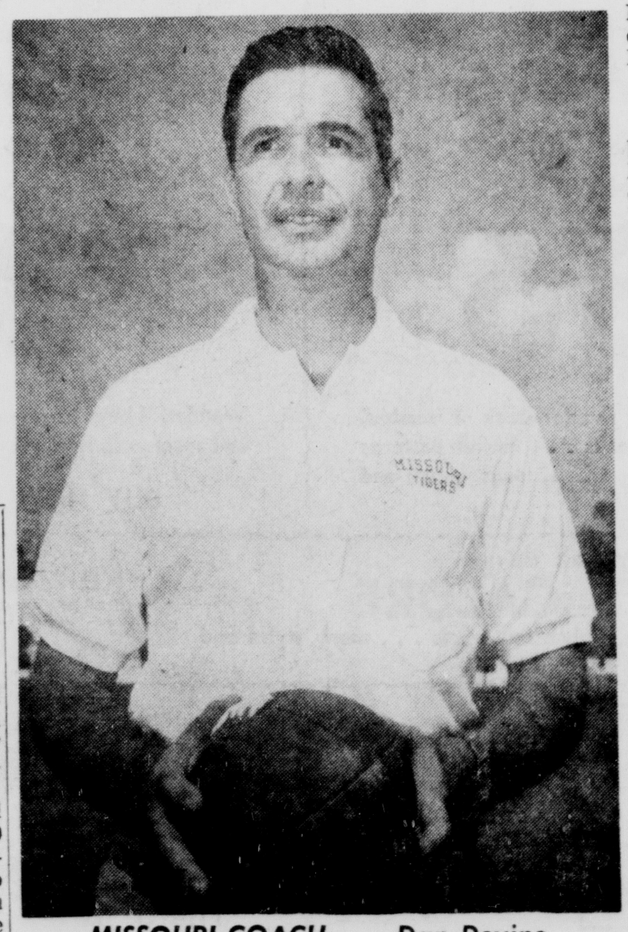

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Preparations by the Missouri football team for Saturday's game with Nebraska were hampered Wednesday by the continued absence of Vince Turner, No. 1 defensive left halfback, ill with the flu.

Coach Dan Devine said he may use Paul Underhill, a regular fullback, at left half if Turner can't play. Underhill, troubled for two weeks by injuries, was shifted to right half earlier in the week.

Syracuse Blasts Hawks, 126-108

Baltimore (AP) — The Syracuse Nationals fought off a 3rd-quarter rally by the St. Louis Hawks Wednesday night and scored a 126-108 National Basketball Association victory in Baltimore's new Civic Center.

Speedy playmaker Hal Greer and John Kerr, a 6-10 center, sparked the Nats after the Hawks had pulled to within one point, 72-71, with 7½ minutes to play in the 3rd period.

Missouri Among Gator Possibles

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — Gator Bowl officials will be watching the performances of 14 college football teams this weekend as possible candidates for the postseason Gator Bowl game Dec. 29.

Gen. manager George Olsen said president Joseph Sykora will attend the Mississippi — Louisiana State game Saturday. Other teams in which the selection committee is interested include:

Alabama, Duke, Army, Penn State, Arkansas, Miami, Florida State, Auburn, Maryland, Missouri, Oregon and Georgia Tech.

Huskers Climb To 4th Place In Total Offense For Nation

. . . MISSOURI 8TH IN TOTAL DEFENSE

Nebraska's Cornhuskers have climbed to 4th in the nation in total offense and rest in the No. 8 spot in rushing offense.

This was disclosed in the latest statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau.

NU's total offense average for 6 games is 399.7 yards. Oregon is the national leader with a 413.3 average.

Saturday's Husker foe, the Missouri Tigers, also have some impressive figures listed.

Mizzou is 3rd in the nation in rushing offense, 10th in rushing defense and 8th in total defense.

Other national leaders on the offensive side of the ledger are Northwestern in passing offense and Michigan State in rushing.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers have put together the best defense against rushing in the last 15 college seasons. The Gopher forwards have permitted only 122 yards on 191 rushing attempts in 5 games for a 24.4-yards average a game and 23 inches a rush.

Boston University is the passing defense leader and Mississippi holds the top spot in total defense.

Deer Season Opening Set For Saturday

A record number of big-game hunters will participate in the second annual statewide rifle deer season opening Saturday, according to L. P. Vance, game division chief of the Game Commission.

Because of the later season this year, running through Nov. 11, most of the corn will be harvested. This will put the deer in the type of cover ordinarily occupied by them. Last year's season was in late October.

Nine full days of hunting are offered, and more than 80,000 white-tailed and mule deer are estimated to populate the state.

White-tailed deer are found predominantly in the eastern part of the state along stream courses and wooded areas while the mule species prefer western Nebraska habitat, Vance said.

The legal firearm for hunting deer is a rifle delivering at least 900 foot pounds of energy at 100 yards. Muzzle loading rifles may also be used provided they are 40 caliber or larger.

Hunting hours on deer are from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

Deer check stations have been set up in each county, and hunters are required to check their kill at the appropriate station. Failure to do so constitutes an illegal kill, and subjects the hunter to arrest.

AAU RESCHEDULES

Chicago (AP) — The National AAU 10,000-meter cross country running meet originally scheduled for Thanksgiving Day now has been set for the following Saturday, Nov. 24.

This was announced Wednesday by Ted Haydon, coach of University of Chicago Track Club, sponsor of the meet.

The rescheduling avoids a showdown with the NCAA-backed Federation cross country meet slated for Thanksgiving Day at Ohio State.

Celtics Keep Rolling With 115-100 Victory

Detroit (AP) — The Boston Celtics toyed with the winless Detroit Pistons after the first period Wednesday night and went on to a 115-100 victory in a National Basketball Association game.

The victory was the 4th in 5 games this season for the defending champion Celts while Detroit was going down to its 6th straight setback.

The Pistons, in their home debut before 8,388 fans, led only twice in the early going, each time after a basket by Willie Jones. On the second occasion at the outset of the second quarter, Jones made it 26-24 for Detroit.

Then rookie John Havlicek and veteran Tom Heinsohn went to town for Boston as the Celtics outscored the Pistons 16-6 over the next 5 minutes. The Celtics held a 58-52 halftime advantage and went into the final quarter leading 83-71.

Heinsohn led all scorers with 24 points while Sam Jones had 23 for the winners. Bailey Howell counted 16 for Detroit.

Green Bay, Wis. (AP)—Green Bay Packer halfback Paul Hornung, the National Football League scoring champion the lst 3 years who has been sidelined with a knee injury for two weeks, returned to the practice field Tuesday.

IOWA EFFIGY LAUDS BURNS

Iowa City, Iowa (AP)—Another effigy appeared on the campus of the State University of Iowa Wednesday but this one was in support of football coach Jerry Burns and the Iowa team.

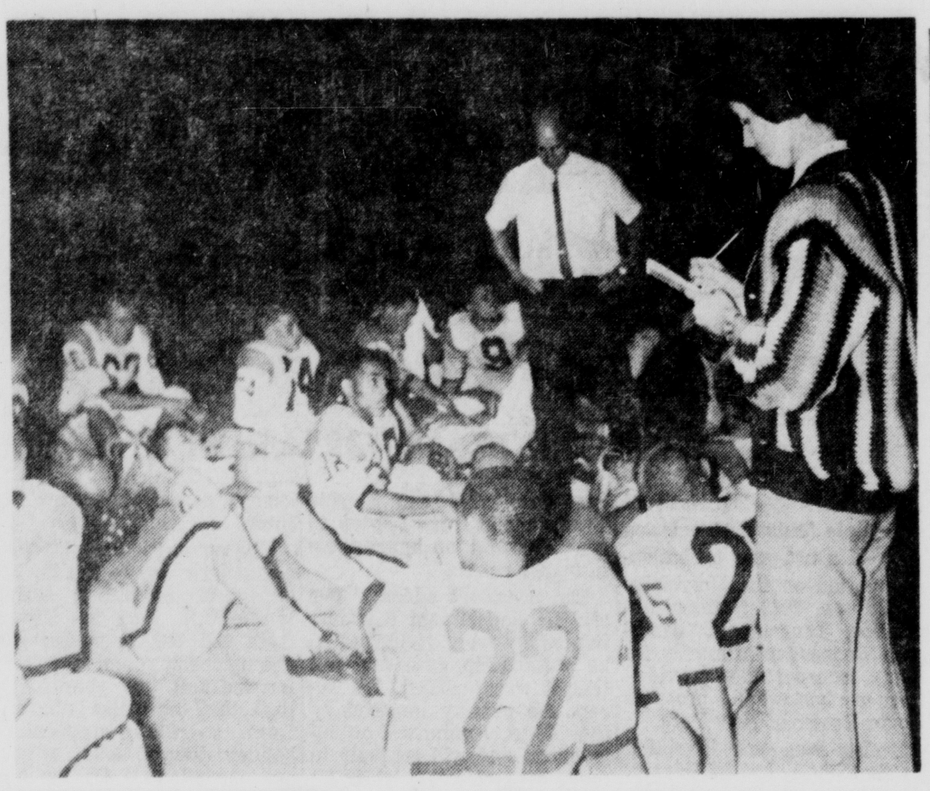

The 6-feet-high dummy, mounted on a base which contained the mockup of a football field, appeared in front of Old Capitol. It bore two signs. One read:

"A monument to J. Burns. We don't hang him. We support him."

The other read: "Yes, Evy, we signed. Join here if you want to. Sign here."

Athletic Director Forest Evashevski had said that persons who hung Burns in effigy last week were "cowards" because their identity was not disclosed.

The message on the "Support Burns" dummy was signed by Jerry Napier, junior from Ottumwa, Iowa, and Tommy Lyon, Iowa City sophomore. They said they wanted to show that not all SUI students were against the team and the coach.

Gal Sports Writer Invades Doane 11's Dressing Room

Lincoln Star Special

Crete—Most sports writers can stroll in and out of an athletic dressing room without difficulty. If the football coach approves, they can even visit with the players or observe the skull session during the halftime interlude.

But one kind of sports writer, a woman, finds freedom of movement like this nearly impossible. For various reasons she's not permitted free access to the dressing rooms.

Miss Gerry Raines, Crete, recently faced a problem like this between halves of a Doane College football game. An ardent sports enthusiast, Gerry has always wanted to know what the coach tells his players during the halftime break.

Doane coach Al Papik gave the session during a recent ball game. She obtained data for a story later submitted to the student newspaper, the Doane Owl.

Gerry aspires to a sports writing career. She is an honorary member of the Nebraska Sports Writers Association, and has written sports copy for the Beatrice Daily Sun, the Crete News and two educational publications—the Doane Owl and the Crete Cardinal. Some day she hopes to be employed by a big daily newspaper.

Dunkel Gives Tigers 10-Point Edge

By DICK DUNKEL

Creeping out of the closet along with the other Hallowe'en bugaboos this week is that annual football enigma, Louisiana State versus Mississippi.

And the figures for next Saturday's renewal at Baton Rouge look embarrassingly familiar.

Last year, Ole Miss had slightly favored itself, but LSU was slightly victorious, 10-7. They tied, 6-6, the year before.

This classic, naturally, calibrates as the closest of the games of next Saturday involving the Top 12. Here's the Dunkel Index difference—or par—which each leader has set over his opponent (this is the same as comparing the handicaps of two golfers or the averages of two bowlers—not a forecast):

Ole Miss 1 over LSU.
Albama 23 over Miss. State.
Nor'western 20 over Indiana.
Ohio State 17 over Iowa.
Wisconsin 24 over Michigan.
Arkansas 16 over Tex. A&M.
Mich. State 6 over Minnesota.
Oregon 13 over Stanford.
Oklahoma 34 over Colorado.
Missouri 10 over Nebraska.

Teams with the higher ratings have won in 76.9% of the 1,140 games, exclusive of ties, covered here this season to date.

Pars in the week's other big games:

Friday Night

Miami, Fla., 8 over Kentucky.

Saturday

East: Penn State 7 over Maryland, Syracuse 11 over Pitt, Navy 9 over Notre Dame, Army 22 over Boston U, Dartmouth 20 over Yale, Villanova 16 over Detroit, Harvard 11 over Penn, Princeton 14 over Brown, Cornell 1 over Columbia.

Midwest: Purdue 23 over Illinois, Kansas 32 over Kansas State, Iowa State 5 over Okla. State.

South: Auburn 4 over Florida, Ga. Tech 6 over Duke, Florida State 10 over Houston, Tennessee 16 over Wake Forest, Georgia 9 over N.C. State, Clemson 3 over N. Carolina, S. Carolina 1 over Virginia, W. Virginia 15 over Wm. & Mary.

Southwest: TCU 6 over Baylor, Rice 10 over Texas Tech, Arizona State 9 over Utah State.

Far West: So. California 1 over Washington, Oregon State 17 over Wash. State, UCLA 4 over California, Air Force even with Wyoming.

Grimsley Sees Goblins Concocting Upset Brew

By WILL GRIMSLEY

New York (AP)—The goblins are concocting an upset brew for Louisiana State, Navy and Syracuse in 3 of the weekend's feature games but college football's "Big 3"—Northwestern, Alabama and Southern Cal—escape the fateful orgy.

Last week's score: 42 - 10—.808.

Mississippi, 14, Louisiana State 8: Ole Miss finally gets fed up with having its season spoiled by the pesky Tigers.

Northwestern 35, Indiana 14: Rifle-armed Tom Myers and his mates celebrate their new position as No. 1 in the nation.

Alabama 33, Mississippi State 0: The Crimson Tide pours it on in a bid to repeat as the national champion.

Southern California 7, Washington 0: The Trojans' beefy line stops the Huskies cold while Pete Beathard squeezes out a touchdown.

Michigan State 18, Minnesota 13: The Spartans' ground attack, which has rolled up 338 yards a game, is too much for the Gophers.

Notre Dame 14, Navy 10: "We'll explode one of these days, maybe Saturday," says the Irish athletic director, Moose Krause.

Pittsburgh 10, Syracuse 8: Up and down like a roller coaster, it's Pitt's week to hit the heights.

Missouri 17, Nebraska 8: Johnny Roland's speed and elusiveness should be the difference.

Georgia Tech 19, Duke 17: The Blue Devils come close but they don't quite stop Tech's Billy Lothridge.

Texas 17, Southern Methodist 8: It takes more than a tie to discourage these Longhorns.

UCLA 17, California 10: The Golden Bears are maturing fast and could pull an upset here.

Arkansas 19, Texas A&M 7: The Razorback is a tough-skinned animal which is hard to corner—so is this team.

Special Molecules Socrates' Wax For Memory

New York (AP) — In the mind of man lies "a block of wax, and when we wish to remember anything, we hold the wax to it, and receive its impression, as from the seal of a ring."

Thus did Socrates, the Ancient Greek sage, try centuries ago to explain the fascinating puzzle of human memory.

Scientists today have a far more logical and detailed explanation of how memory really works, or could perhaps be improved.

Chemical Change

They conceive of the "wax" as being special kinds of molecules inside brain nerve cells. A chemical change in the molecules stores up each memory.

This highly promising theory was described Wednesday by Dr. H. W. Magoun of the University of California at Los Angeles in a review on memory research presented to the second International Conference on the Biological Treatment of Mental Illness, sponsored by the Manfred Sakel Foundation and the New York Academy of Medicine.

Research by various scientists has shown that memories can be brought forth by stimulating areas of the brain with electric shocks, he said.

An electrical rhythm has been detected which may be the carrier wave of information which is to be remembered—like a friend's name.

The key puzzle has been what mechanism stores up the friend's name, for instant recall? Are only some of the brain's trillions of cells involved?

Today's favored theory is based on the mechanism of the "genetic code" by which human inheritance is transmitted from generation to generation.

Messenger

This theory involves a messenger chemical, known as RNA or ribonucleic acid, travelling from the nucleus of a living cell to the outer machinery, transmitting the instructions from the genetic storehouse in the nucleus. The RNA messenger tells a liver cell what to do to be a liver cell, for example.

Dr. Holger Hyden of the University of Goteberg, Sweden, has proposed that messenger RNA, released when brain nerve cells become excited or activated, travels out to impose a pattern in the cell chemistry. A specific protein molecule is produced, and this is the storehouse of the memory of an event or piece of information.

The RNA for this specific memory continues to reproduce itself, and comes forward whenever a particular pattern of activity, or memory, is called for—but not for other specific patterns or memories.

Experiments

Dr. Magoun cited experiments which support this theory that RNA codes, specifies and reproduces memory.

Some of the most fascinating experiments involved water-dwelling flatworms, known as planaria. With electric shocks, they can be trained to remember how to swim through a maze.

When cut in two, the flatworms regenerate themselves, and the regenerating parts continue to retain this memory, as shown in experiments by Dr. J. V. McConnell, A. L. Jacobson and D. P. Kimble of the University of Michigan.

If the RNA in the regenerating parts is destroyed by an enzyme, the flatworms do not remember, other experiments showed.

Most astonishingly, further experiments by Drs. B. M. Humphries and Jacobson indicate that if totally uneducated flatworms eat the "educated" ones, they suddenly have learned what their victims knew. They ate the RNA holding the memory of how to run the maze.

If this theory proves out, new doors could open to understanding how the brain actually works, and possibly for improving faulty memories through drugs, Dr. Magoun said.

Odd Shoes Worn By Queen Mother

London (AP) — Queen Elizabeth, the queen mother, surprised everyone by wearing odd shoes.

On one foot she wore a heavy brown walking shoe, on the other a black patent court shoe with a slim heel.

Handwriting Topics To Be Discussed Here

Loneliness and handwriting will be under discussion Sunday in Lincoln at the quarterly meeting of the Nebraska chapter of the International Graphoanalysis Society.

A. W. Edling, chapter president, will present a paper on "Loneliness and What We Can Do About It," during the afternoon session of the all-day meeting at the Lincoln Hotel. The business session will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Demo Called 'Off Base'

. . . URGED IKE TO GET OUT OF ELECTION

Washington (AP) — A Democratic spokesman's suggestion that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower ought to remove himself from the election campaign was called "off base" Wednesday by a Republican.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. said the suggestion by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind.:

"The politicians who are attempting to silence legitimate comment by one of America's greatest leaders on the most crucial problem facing us today are way off base."

Hartke, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, had contended some of Eisenhower's statements might be interpreted abroad as indicating a lack of American solidarity in the Cuban crisis.

Keating said that in his opinion Eisenhower's remarks "have been appropriate to the point, and entirely consistent with his policy to avoid making a political football out of Cuba."

There was no comment from Eisenhower, but Sen. Alexanded Wiley, R-Wis., said in a statement that, while there is need for unity and bipartisanship on foreign policy, the Republicans have "a responsibility for independent, critical evaluation — together with offering constructive alternatives — if existing programs are found wanting."

Another Republican Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, wrote a letter to President Kennedy expressing concern over whether the Soviet Union would not be guaranteed "a privileged sanctuary for the extension of communist subversion and sabotage to Latin America."

Rhodes is chairman of a subcommittee on special projects of the House Republican Policy Committee.

"If only those weapons falling under the vague classification of offensive are to be removed from Cuba by the Soviet Union under the agreement," he wrote, "has not the United States put a stamp of approval on the existence of a permanent Soviet militia base 90 miles from our shores?"

THE IMAM OF YEMEN

The Saudi Arabian government released this picture saying it shows the 35-year-old Imam Mohammed Al Badr of Yemen seated among Bakeel tribesmen at secret counter-revolutionary headquarters in northern region of Yemen. Saudi Arabia said this picture was made after the revolt in which the imam was said to have been killed.

U.S. Protests

Moscow (UPI) — The U.S. Embassy announced it has protested the "apparent inability or unwillingness" of Soviet authorities to protect its property and personnel during the violent pro-Cuban demonstrations last week.

Tax Plan Would Slice 'Drag'

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy's plan for a top to bottom tax cut next year is aimed at reducing the drag on purchasing power, profits and incentive which stubbornly keeps the economy sluggish, his chief economic adviser said Wednesday.

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, writing in the November issue of Nation's Business magazine, said:

"It now seems clear that one of the chief reasons for the sluggish behavior of our economy over the past 5 years or so is the persistent drag exerted by our present federal tax system."

For 5 straight years, he said, plant capacity has not been fully used.

"Smaller wonder that the inducement to invest in plant expansion has been weakened," Heller commented. "And no small part of the reason is to be found in the tax drag on purchasing power and the associated drag on profits and incentives.

"To reduce this double drag and, in the process, to restore to American enterprise that vital dash of optimism needed to invigorate business investment and economic activity, is at the top of our economic agenda for 1963."

Heller said a sizable cut in taxes for both households and businesses would push the economy toward more robust activity in 3 main ways:

1. increase the take-home pay of consumers, who consistently spend from 92 to 94% of their disposable income. Heller said history shows that when this income is increased, a high proportion of the increase is spent promptly.

2. "by strengthening sales and pushing output closer to capacity, tax reduction spurs investment in inventories and in new equipment and plants."

3. "reducing personal and corporate taxes raises profit margins for businessmen and enlarges the supply of internal business funds available for investment."

The decision on the size and composition of the tax cut proposals will have to be weighed in these economic considerations, Heller said:

—the appropriate relationship between revenues and expenditures at high levels of employment;

—the need to combine individual and corporate tax reductions in the manner best suited to yield maximum interlocking impact on markets and incentives;

—the need to reduce top marginal tax rates as part of a balanced reform of the income tax;

—the achievement of balance between tax reduction and tax overhaul which will advance the cause of economic efficiency and growth side-by-side with that of tax equity.

DowntownLincoln Group Changes Name, Officers

The Downtown Lincoln Association Wednesday coupled its annual election with a decision to change the name of the organization.

It named Robert Magee president to succeed Paul Henkle of Gold & Company. Joe Murphy of Kresge Stores was named vice president, and Sidney Anderson of Latsch Brothers was re-elected treasurer.

The organization adopted the name of the Lincoln Promotional Council. It was explained that the expanding activities and programs of general community effect called for the more descriptive name.

Magee will direct the activities of the council until late 1963.

U.S. Light Infantry Weapons To Be Sped To India's Aid

Washington (AP) — High priority U.S. light infantry weapons and other equipment will be sped by air to India this week to help Indian troops hold off massive Chinese Communist border attacks.

The State Department announced this Wednesday and defense authorities said big Air Force transport planes will start taking off on the mission Thursday or Friday from many points in the United States.

The first deliveries are expected to include M-1 Garand semi-automatic rifles, light mortars, grenades, trucks, jeeps and radio communication gear.

The arms flow is in swift fulfillment of President Kennedy's pledge to give rapid and sympathetic consideration to an appeal from India's Prime Minister Nehru for military assistance to repel the invaders.

A State Department spokesman, in announcing the airlift, said it was prompted by a specific situation.

"That situation," said Press Officer Lincoln White, "is created by massive Chininese Communist attacks on India's frontier.

"This premeditated Chinese Communist aggression is a serious development and is so regarded by this government."

White said that in extending assistance to India "we are responding to an urgent need arising rrom a situation which is of concern not only "to that country but to our allies as well."

With these words, White apparently was reassuring neighboring Pakistan that the American arms were intended to help India combat the menacing Chinese Communist columns on her northern frontier rather than bring about any change in the balance of military power between India and Pakistan in their long-deadlocked border dispute.

Made Clear

White also made clear that U.S. Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith was speaking with the authority of the U.S. government when he recently acknowledged that the McMahon Line forms the northern border of India's northeast frontier area.

Galbraith, in response to questions, said in New Delhi there should be "no ambiguity" about the U.S. position, adding:

"The McMahon Line is accepted as the international border and is so regarded by modern usage. Accordingly we regard it as the northern border of India's northeast frontier area."

The McMahon line zig zags eastward from Bhutan some 1,000 miles to a point now in Burma. It was drawn in 1914 by Henry McMahon, Britain's representative to the Simla Treaty Convention which marked the border between India and Tibet. The line follows the crest of the mighty Himalayan range's southern watershed.

There is no demarcation line in the Ladakh area on the western end of the 2,500 miles long India-Chinese border where fighting has also raged. Chinese Communist forces in the Ladakh area have occupied some 12,000 square miles of territory claimed by India.

The State Department had no comment on the shakeup in Nehru's cabinet which resulted in Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon being transferred to a new cabinet-rank post as minister of defense production. Nehru himself took over the defense portfolio.

White said the cabinet change was an internal matter which he did not propose to comment upon.

Expected

Other U.S. officials said privately that the move had been expected for some time. It was no secret that Americans were unhappy with Menon for having been outspokenly critical of U.S. disarmament policy and for siding with the Soviet Union and Communist China on many cold war issues.

There was no indication of the magnitude of the U.S. airlift to India, nor the terms on which the weapons are being supplied. White cautioned that in view of the global situation, there were limitations on the amount of goods the United States could supply.

He also indicated that the United States had been consulting with Britain and Canada, and possibly others, to avoid duplication in helping India overcome her shortage of modern weapons.

Ike Is On Visit To New York

New York (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived here Wednesday on a visit. He is expected to stay until Friday.

The council on Foreign Relations said Eisenhower would attend a private dinner in the council's headquarters.

Officials of the Rockefeller-For-Governor headquarters said they knew of no plans for Eisenhower to campaign during his visit. The former President appeared at a rally in Syracuse last Monday in behalf of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Visits Kennedy Family

Washington (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury met President Kennedy and his family Wednesday.

"An absolutely delightful family," the visiting English churchman told newsmen afterward.

The Most Rev. Arthur Michael Ramsey had nothing to say as to what he and the President talked about.

But he talked freely about his delight in meeting the President, Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy children, Caroline and John Jr.

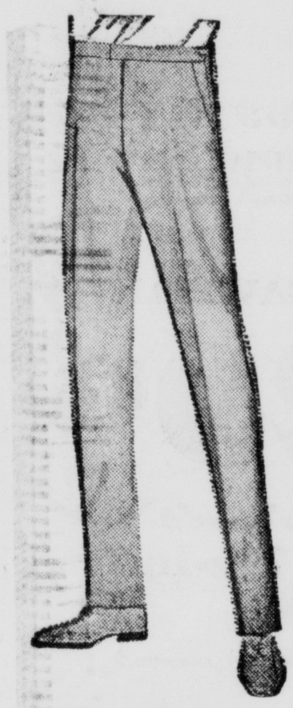

"It was immensely kind of the President to welcome me as he did," Ramsey said.

He disclosed that while he was in the President's office Mrs. Kennedy brought the two Kennedy children in to meet him.

Crisis Caused Halt On Export Permits

. . . TO RED COUNTRIES

Washington (AP) — The Cuban crisis prompted a complete but temporary freeze on all licensing of American goods for shipment to communist countries, it was learned Wednesday.

Hecords made available by the commerce department, which handles licensing, showed that not a single license was granted from Oct. 23 through Tuesday.

The clampdown was imposed Wednesday morning after President Kennedy announced the Cuban blockade in his address to the nation.

Just Before

By contrast, licenses covering the shipment of goods valued at $97,883 were issued on Oct. 22 — just before the President spoke but as an air of crisis was developing throughout the nation.

On the preceding working day, Oct. 19, the licensing total was $120,326.

The Oct. 22 figure includes a license for delivery of $47,998 worth of industrial instruments and parts to Yugoslavia, which is not consindered part of the Soviet Bloc in administering export controls.

No Shipments

Significantly, perhaps, no proposed shipments to Yugoslavia were given a go-ahead during the Oct. 22-30 period.

The Commerce Department said the freeze — which it preferred to describe as a go-slow policy — was not without precedent. However, officials declined to cite an earlier instance when a similar course was followed.

Although the freeze was complete during the period cited, it was learned that at least one license was granted Wednesday for shipment of supplies to an American newsman in Moscow.

Not Exception

Officials would not say whether this was an exception, or whether licensing would be resumed on a broader scale in the near future.

Officials did speak of the situation as temporary, barring a turn-about in the thaw that followed the Soviet Union's promise Sunday that Cuban missile bases would be dismantled.

"In any kind of tense situation of the kind we are undergoing," one official commented, "we always want to take a closer look . . . than is necessary in more normal situations. This . . . means it takes longer to process the applications."

No Change

He said there has been no policy change involving licensing and that none was contemplated.

Under the Export Control Act of 1949, the department must approve in advance all shipments from the United States to Communist Bloc countries in Europe. The aim is to head off transactions that would increase the bloc's war-making potential. No trade is permitted with the communist countries of Asia.

The department's quick reaction to the President's Oct. 22 address contrasted with its actions following Kennedy's July, 1961 television-radio talk on the Berlin crisis. In the 10 days after that address, licensing of exports to the Communist Bloc increased by 600%, compared with the preceding 10 days.

Two Probes

Licensing practices at that time prompted two congressional investigations. The department explained the increase by saying a backlog of applications was processed in a short period as part of an effort to boost the efficiency of the licensing staff.

These were the shipments licensed on Oct. 22, in addition to the large transaction involving instruments and parts for Yugoslavia:

$13,122 of chemical specialities for Czechoslovakia; $23 of clothing for Russia; $53 of printing apparatus parts for Czechoslovakia; $87 of synthetic rubber for Russia; and $36,600 of drugs and medicines for Czechoslovakia.

Wilson earned the trophy during some 18 months with the Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-145. He completed two active duty cruises, earned two promotions and missed only one of 48 scheduled drills.

Morrison Urges Funds For Ord Hospital

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday sent telegrams to President Kennedy and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze urgently requesting favorable consideration for funds to replace the Valley County Hospital at Ord.

In September, the State Hospital Advisory Council and the State Health Board gave the Ord project first call on Nebraska's 1962-63 allocation of 40% federal matching Hill-Burton monies in two categories: $120,000 for general hospital construction, and $80,000 from the nursing home category for a 20-bed facility at the hospital.

In October, Ord was one of 3 Nebraska communities to file an application for an additional 10% in federal monies available for hospital construction under the Accelerated Public Works Act.

The other two projects were at Kearney: one for a major addition and some physical improvements to Good Samaritan Hospital, and the other a nursing care infirmary at the Mt. Carmel Home.

In his telegrams to President Kennedy and Secretary Celebrezze, Morrison said:

We urgently request favorable consideration for funds for the replacement of the Valley County Hospital at Ord.

"Due to the large rural community which this hospital serves and the condition of the present hospital facility, we feel that this request should be granted.

"Any assistance which you can give us in this matter will be greatly appreciated."

Lincoln, 2 Other Schools Bill State For 'Unpaid' Special Education Funds

The State Education Department has been billed by 3 school districts for, what they claim, are "unpaid" bills totaling $70,660.

The 3 school districts contend that the Education Department owes them this much for special education programs for handicapped children last year.

Bidding for the more than $70,000 are the Lincoln, Holdrege and Nebraska City school districts.

Lincoln is asking for $67,280; Holdrege for $539; and Nebraska City for $2,873.

"The claims represent the difference between the amount appropriated by the Legislature and payments to which schools feel entitled to under state law," State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller said.

Payments were pro-rated to the various school districts last year, Miller said, as is normally the practice when the Unicameral dosn't appropriate enough money to pay the state's full share of the cost of such a program.

Miller said state law provides for reimbursing districts for the amount special educations costs in excess of schools' average pupil cost.

"It (state law) states that the reimbursement amounts shall not exceed $300 annually for each educable mentally handicapped youngster and $600 for each handicapped child," Miller said.

The 1961 Unicameral appropriated $690,000 for the two types of aid for the current biennium and said not more than $50,890 of the money could be spent for administration, Miller said.

Steven Watkins, Lincoln school superintendent, told Dr. Miller, in a letter, "Judging by past experience, local school districts cannot put much faith in the help according to statute once a program is initiated.

Miller said the department's inability to pay in full is having a bad effect upon expanding special education programs, especially in the speech therapy field. "It places us in a bind," Miller admitted.

Miller said he feels the school districts "will probably have to wait until the Unicameral meets again in January before the problem can be ironed out."

Bigger Budget Sought For Governor's Office

The governor's office Wednesday presented a proposed $1,193,331 budget request for the 1963-65 biennium to the tax commissioner.

The request is an increase of $173,757 over the amount the governor's office expects to spend during the current biennium.

Of the total request, $883,500 represents the Capitol Building's share of the state's institutional building levy.

The budget also proposes $100,000 for storm emergencies, about the same as is expected to be spent for that purpose this biennium.

Other costs:

—Mural commission, asking $50,000; expected to spend this biennium, $19,765.

—Special Indian affairs deputies, asking $33,771; expected to spend this biennium, $28,861.

—Mansion costs, asking $32,112; expected to spend this biennium, $29,181.

—Enforcement of bingo laws, asking $22,601; expected to spend this biennium, $16,883.

Included in the budget is the governor's salary of $28,000 for two years.

Crop Spraying Regulation Is Group Topic

The Agricultural Aviation Advisory Committee to the State Aeronautics Department discussed possible regulation of aerial sprayers of agricultural crops at its first meeting here Wednesday.

State Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt said the committee will try to determine whether the aerial sprayers need some kind of regulation.

Gordon Gossman of the Aeronautics Department, a member of the committee, noted that the insecticides and herbicides used to spray agricultural crops are poisonous and very dangerous. He suggested both the public and the sprayers be made fully aware of the dangers of handling the sprays and how to use them safely.

Sandstedt said he expects some "constructive developments to come out of the committee." The next meeting is scheduled for December.

The committee is composed of Gossman; Ellsworth Carlson of the State Agriculture Department; 3 University of Nebraska officials, Rodney Bovey, Dr. D. G. Hanway and Dr. R. E. Hill; and 4 aerial applicators, John Clinch of Lincoln, Vinton Jones of Benkleman, Dean Osher of Hebron and Jerry Steggs of Broken Bow.

Beloit, Wis. (UPI) — Preliminary plans for a $2 million hall of science at Beloit College have been approved by the college trustees.

Hobgoblins Carry GOP Message Across Lincoln

Little Halloween hobgoblins went campaigning Wednesday night for Republican candidates.

Two thousand "vote Republican" shopping bags were distributed by Lincoln GOP workers to children out tricking-and-treating.

The kids used the bags to hold their treats and—as they went house to house—carried the GOP message across the city.

The bags particularly plugged for the election of gubernatorial nominee Fred Seaton and First District Rep. Ralph Beermann.

Thousands To View NU Displays

"We feel there will be between 10,000 and 20,000 cars along the University of Nebraska homecoming display route Friday night," Police Lt. Mel Dorn said, "but if everyone will pay attention and drive accordingly, there shouldn't be any great traffic problems."

Some 40,000 to 60,000 people are expected to view the 26 displays put up by the 42 sororities and fraternities on the campus, NU officials said.

Sororities and fraternities have joined forces in many instances to create bigger and more elaborate displays this year.

Judging will be Friday night by a committee of faculty, administrators and students.

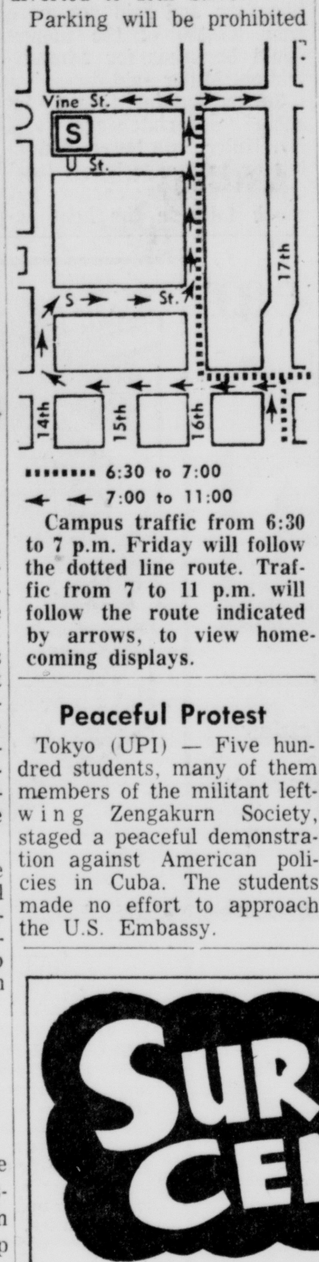

During the homecoming display period, 7 to 11 p.m. Friday, southbound traffic on 16th and 14th streets will be diverted to 10th Street.

Parking will be prohibited after 2 p.m. Friday on the following streets:

R from 15th to 17th, the south side of R from 14th to 15th; 14th from R to S, S from 14th to 16th, 16th from S to Vine, and the west side of 17th from P to R.

Police said cars parked in these areas after 2 p.m. Friday will be towed in.

Nearly 50 policemen will be aided by 26 ROTC students in directing traffic through the campus Friday evening.

Campus traffic from 6:30 to 7 p.m. Friday will follow the dotted line route. Traffic from 7 to 11 p.m. will follow the route indicated by arrows, to view homecoming displays.

Campaign Fails

Twickenham, England (UPI) — Lord Hampton, 79, a leader in British campaigns for road safety, was killed here in a two-car collision.

Peaceful Protest

Tokyo (UPI) — Five hundred students, many of them members of the militant left-wing Zengakurn Society, staged a peaceful demonstration against American policies in Cuba. The students made no effort to approach the U.S. Embassy.

Ottawa—Canada's race to the cities has sped up in recent years. Between 1956 and last year the urban total shot up from 62 to 70% of the population.

Chamber Of Commerce OKs 1963 Budget Of $180,736

Lincoln Chamber of Commerce directors Wednesday approved a 1963 budget of $180,736.75.

The figure matched the 1962 budget, but places emphasis on greater effort on publicity and business expansion.

It also provided for a $2,472.56 surplus to cushion an expected net operating deficit thise year of $6,131.29.

New budget provisions by category are:

Adm. and office	$54,431.00
Civic	37,950.00
Ind. and business	44,690.00
Membership	13,981.00
Women's Div.	7,978.00
Junior Div.	3,500.00
Chamber Quarters	12,000.00
Salary Inc.	3,743.75
Surplus	2,472.56

Turning from budget decisions, the directors pledged $600 underwriting as an inducement to the 1963 meeting of the Nebraska Masonic Grand Lodge here. They also:

—approved a transportation committee's recommendation for support of Frontier Airlines request before the Civil Aeronautics Board for air service which would give Lincoln direct connection with Spokane and Seattle, Washington, and St. Louis, Mo.

—Opposed constitutional referendum proposal No. 2 calling for a reorganization of the present State Railway Commission of 3 commissioners elected at large, replacing it with a body of 3 to 7 commissioners elected by districts. The chamber expressed preference for a commission with express qualifications, appointed by the governor.

—Set 6 p.m. Dec. 18 as the time for the board's annual meeting at the Lincoln Country Club. The meeting precedes the annual membership meeting scheduled for late in January.

Military Police Haul Arms From Ole Miss Dormitory

Oxford, Miss. (AP)—Military policemen hauled out a dismantled pistol, a dismantled M1 rifle and several tear gas grenades Wednesday night from a men's dormitory at the University of Mississippi.

The dormitory, Lester Hall, is next door to Baxter Hall, where Negro James H. Meredith lives.

The military policemen came out with the weapons—as well as a 5-gallon gasoline can and a large supply of fireworks—after two and a half hours of searching the more than 100 rooms of the dormitory.

Roll Away

They boarded Army trucks and rolled away. Behind them, a small crowd of students in the darkness outside the dormitory broke up.

The military policemen, their bayonets fixed, threw a guard around the dormitory and began searching rooms after somebody tossed a cherry bomb out a window, slightly injuring a soldier.

A cherry bomb, spherical and slightly larger than a marble, is a type of firecracker.

Face To Face

Students gathered in front of Lester Hall, numbering at one time about 100, standing face to face with the soldiers ringing the building.

There were no signs of trouble and the crowd, after growing in size for a few moments with the addition of the curious, soon began to dwindle.

The military policemen first stormed into two dormitories—about 20 soldiers to a dormitory. A lieutenant ordered: "nobody in and nobody out." The soldiers scooted any students in the doors to the outside.

Urges Return

Bedford Nash, director of student housing, urged the students to return to their rooms.

"Let me tell you one thing," Nash said. "They (the soldiers) are trigger happy. Do your mothers a favor and get out of here."

Registrar Robert Ellis also asked the students to disperse.

Patrol Comes

Shortly after the troops left, about 10 state highway patrol cars, each with two or 3 men, began patrolling the campus

Hugh Clegg, administrative Assistant to Chancellor J. D. Williams said the highway patrolmen and a group of policemen from Clarksdale, about 60 miles from Oxford, had been asked by the school to help curb any demonstration and violence.

Dean L. L. Love of the division of student personnel said the student judicial council would give speedy consideration to any student cases handed over by the department of justice. The student council has the power to recommend expulsion and has been reversed only once in 10 years.

Storm In

The soldiers first stormed into two dormitories adjoining Baxter Hall.

At the time, Meredith was eating—in the company of a justice department official—without incident in the student cafeteria. He returned to his dormitory while the search was in progress, and entered without any reaction from the students milling around.

At one of the dormitories a student asked: "What's going on?" A military policeman replied: "Get out of the dormitory." The student did.

The crowd of students shouted taunts at the soldiers for a few moments—such remarks as, "better hide your whisky."

One of the military police officers told the crowd: "If you will be quiet it will be over soon and you can get back in."

The military policemen came out of the two dormitories as suddenly as they had entered, then set up their ring of men—soldiers standing about 20 feet apart, facing outward—around one of the dormitories, and began their search.

Students Watch

From the darkness outside, the students could see the soldiers moving from room to room inside the dormitory, Lester Hall.

John Doar, a Justice Department attorney, told newsmen that a cherry bomb thrown out a window and injuring a soldier sparked the search.

This was Meredith's 23rd day of classes at Ole Miss—a quiet day for the 29-year-old Negro.

A group of Ole Miss students is stopped at the door of their dorm while search is conducted.

Red Chinese Advances Hit 2 Unclaimed Areas

New Delhi (AP)—The Chinese Communist advance at 13 points since they attacked India has touched soil the Chinese do not claim in only two sectors. Both are in the remote northwest area of Ladakh.

India and China have been disputing 51,000 square miles of Himalayan borderlands for 5 years. These lie in Ladakh and in the northeast frontier about 850 miles to the east. India is uncertain whether the Chinese are seeking only to seize the areas they claim or plan to attack the rest of the nation.

In initial assaults the Chinese hit across their claim line in Ladakh at the northern end of the border.

One attack was on an Indian military post at Daulet Beg Oldi, at the foot of Karakoram Pass on the Chip Chap River. It was beaten off after fierce fighting but some smaller outposts upstream fell to the Chinese.

A Chinese diplomatic note before the offensive had clearly stated that Daulet Beg Oldi was in Indian territory.

The Chinese also shelled the Indian airfield at Chushul in southern Ladakh. China has never clearly stated where it thinks the border lies in this area: But their maps indicate Chushul is in Indian territory.

In other areas the Chinese are still within their claim line. But if they are able to reach the line, particularly at the edge of the Himalayas in the northeast, then they are expected by some military observers to strike across it at any Indian forces gathering on the Assam Plains to counterattack them.

Leftist In Hanoi

Tokyo (AP) — Leftist Prince Souphanouvong, vice premier of the coalition government of Laos, arrived in Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, en route home from the Soviet Union, the New China News Agency said.

Adlai Stevenson Pays A Visit To Mrs. Roosevelt

New York (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, described by her daughter as "very seriously ill," has asked for only one visitor outside of her immediate family — Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson, the U.N. ambassador, called on the former First Lady at her Manhattan apartment a couple of days ago.

Mrs. Roosevelt for many years has supported the Democratic Party leader.

Writing in the New York World-Telegram and Sun, Vance Trimble quoted Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., as saying of the visit:

"Mother seemed to recognize him. At least she smiled and said a few words."

Mrs. Roosevelt, 78, has been ill for more than a month with anemia and a lung infection. After 3 weeks of hospitalization, she was moved to her apartment.

Rep. Roosevelt told Trimble that the repeated blood transfusions which give his mother strength cause a recurrence of the fever.

Newhouse Pledges $15 Million For Study Of Communications

New York (AP)—Newspaper publisher Samuel I. Newhouse has pledged $15 million for what is described as "the world's largest and most advanced study center in mass communications," it was announced Wednesday.

The center is being established at Syracuse University and studies will embrace journalism, radio and television, audiovisual and other media of communications.

Newhouse currently owns, wholly or in part, 19 newspapers across the nation, as well as magazines and radio and television stations.

The $15 million contribution includes $2 million originally given by the publisher in January, 1960, for construction of the first building in the Newhouse communication center.

Announcement of the additional $13 million gift was made by Chancellor William P. Tolley of the university. He termed it one of the largest made to an American university by a living donor in the last decade.

The Newhouse center is to be devoted to education and research, particularly in the development of new ideas, techniques and effectiveness of various communications media in informing readers, viewers and listeners.

Guild Strikes Against New York Daily News

New York (UPI)—Editorial employes struck the New York Daily News early Thursday when their contract with the newspaper expired.

The strike, called by the American Newspaper Guild (AFL-CIO), came at 12:01 a.m. EST. Contracts also ran out with the 6 other major New York City newspapers at that time, but the guild said strikes would not be called against them.

The Daily News, a tabloid, has the largest daily circulation of any newspaper in America.

Talks Halted

Michael M. Potoker, secretary treasurer of the guild, said, however, that contract negotiations with the other 6 newspapers had been halted and would not resume until a settlement had been reached in the dispute with the News.

Potoker said guild members would continue to work at the other 6 papers—the World-Herald and the Sun, the New York Mirror, the Journal-American, the New York Times, the Post, and the Herald Tribune.

Potoker said work would continue at these newspapers "as long as they don't lock us out."

Aid Struck Paper

The publishers had said early in a statement that if the guild went on strike only at one newspaper, the other newspapers would make their facilities available to the struck paper so it could try to continue publication. They also said publication would continue at those papers not struck.

The union broke off negotiations with the Daily News at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Shortly before the walkout at the News, the newspaper's general manager George E. Donnelly, chief negotiator for the paper, expressed "surprise and regret" at the guild walkout.

Unparalleled

"The union's action and ultimatum is unparalleled in our labor relations history," Donnelly said. "At the time the guild walked out one and one-half hours before the strike deadline, the News had prepared another offer. It was in the hands of federal mediator Daniel Fitzpatrick who had advised (union executive vice president Thomas J.) Murphy that he had a new proposal."

At issue in the strike picture were guild demands for a 10% general pay raise, a top minimum for newsmen and photographers of $200 per week and a general reduction in the present work week of 35 to 30 hours.

The guild rejected as "unrealistic" a management counter offer of pay boosts totaling $5 a week in a two-year contract. The offer came from 4 of the papers involved—the World-Telegram, the Daily News, the Mirror and the Journal-American.

Informed

Shortly after midnight, Edward Mahar, a staff assistant of the Guild, informed editorial employes that the strike was on. They promptly left the News building and took up positions on a picket line forming outside.

Earlier Mayor Robert F. Wagner had summoned representatives of both sides to his official mansion in a last ditch effort to avert a strike. The mayor was meeting with publishers and their representatives when the News strike was called.

The publishers decision to continue publication at papers not struck by the union was a departure from the practice established in recent years under which the publishers shut down every paper in the city if one paper was struck by any one of the 10 union which hold contracts with them.

The guild represents 5,700 newspaper editorial employes on the 7 newspapers. The 9 other unions represent some 11,300 pressmen, linotype operators, paper handlers and other employes.

1,250,000 Safety Tests Before 1st Space Shot

Chicago (UPI)—An official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said Wednesday more than 1,250,000 safety tests were conducted before astronaut Alan Shepard was launched in America's first sub-orbital flight.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the NASA, said in an address at the National Safety Council's annual convention that astronaut flights are examples of safety procedures carried to the ultimate degree.

"Incredible as it may seem, before the first sub-orbital manned flight more than 1,250,000 tests were carried out to insure that each item, each group of items, was as reliable as human ability could make them," Dryden said.

"Every one of the flights was preceded by months and years of testing studying, changing, redesigning . . . with the safety of the astronaut as a major consideration," he said.

Dryden said the astronauts are given training particularly designed to ensure their safety. "They practiced climbing in and out of the Mercury capsule as it floated in the ocean. They learned how to survive in the desert and in other harsh environments in case malfunctions sent the spacecraft down in such areas," he said.

Even with the most advanced safety precautions, Dryden said, "we must face the possibility a disaster is possible."

He said a space-flight vehicle is "one of the most complicated and elaborate mechanisms ever devised by the mind of men. It contains thousands of individual parts. One small defective component could . . . take the life of an astronaut."

A tiny East African frog lays its eggs among wild banana leaves, which retain small amounts of water. The resulting tadpoles are adapted to survive in this environment.

NIKE ZEUS TRIALS TO BE MOVED

Point Mugu, Calif. (AP)—Test launchings of the Army's Nike Zeus antimissile rocket at this Pacific missile range headquarters will end about Jan. 1, a spokesman said Wednesday.

Further testing will be conducted at the White Sands, N.M., missile range and at Kwajalein Islandi in mid Pacific, where the Nike Zeus is fired at Atlas-boosted warheads from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The Army has fired 15 of the 3-stage, solid-fuel antimissile rockets from here in the past year, and one or two more tests may be held before the program here ends.

No reason for ending the tests was given but spokesmen earlier said the launchings here were preliminary to the full-scale firings at Kwajalein.

York, Pa. (UPI) Col. Mahlon Haines — the celebrated "shoe wizard" of Pennsylvania's York County — died here at the age of 87.

Widow Buys Husband; He Isn't Bargain

Los Angeles (AP)—An attractive widow accused another woman in court Wednesday of selling her husband to the widow for $10,000.

Mrs. Dorothy Alzmann, 35, of Glendora, wants her money back. In a suit filed in superior court, Mrs. Alzmann said Mrs. Norma Babcock of Arcadia promised to return the money if Quinton Babcock refused to stay with the widow.

He stayed less than 24 hours, Mrs. Alzmann charged, and Mrs. Babcock gave her back only $3,000, claiming she had a legal right to the remaining $7,000 for "alienation of affections."

Mrs. Alzmann's attorney, W. J. Hyland, said his client started going out with Babcock after her space engineer husband Fredrick died in November 1961. Babcock said he planned to divorce his wife, Mrs. Alzmann claimed in the suit.

Mrs. Alzmann, charging conspiracy and breach of a quasi contract, is asking $7,000 plus $1,800 she claims she lent Babcock during their friendship.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1962, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the amendments of the Constitution of Nebraska which are set forth in section 2 of this act and which are hereby proposed by the Legislature.

Sec. 2. The amendments proposed are as follows:

(1) To amend Article IV, section 11 to read as follows:

"Sec. 11. In case of a vacancy during the recess of the Legislature, in any office which is not elective, except officers provided for in Article V of this Constitution, the Governor shall make a temporary appointment until the next meeting of the Legislature, when he shall nominate some person to fill such office; and any person so nominated, who is confirmed by the Legislature, a majority of all the legislators elected concurring by voting yeas and nays, shall hold his office during the remainder of the term, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. No person after being rejected by the Legislature shall be again nominated for the same office at the same session, unless at request of the Legislature, or be appointed to the same office during the recess of the Legislature."

(2) To amend Article V, sections 4, 5, 7, 10, 15, 20 and 21 to read as follows:

"Sec. 4. The Chief Justice and the Judges of the Supreme Court shall be selected as provided in this Article V. Sec. 5. The Legislature shall divide the state along county lines into six compact districts of approximately equal population, which shall be numbered from one to six, consecutive numbers to be given adjacent districts and shall be the Supreme Court judicial districts. Such districts shall not be changed, except upon the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the Legislature, nor shall any such change vacate the office of any judge.

Sec. 7. No person shall be eligible to the office of Chief Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court unless he shall be at least thirty years of age, and a citizen of the United States, and shall have resided in this state at least three years next preceding his selection; nor, in the case of a Judge of the Supreme Court selected from a Supreme Court judicial district, unless he shall be a resident and elector of the district from which selected.

Sec. 10. The state shall be divided into district court judicial districts. Until otherwise provided by law, the boundaries of the judicial districts and the number of judges of the district courts shall remain as now fixed. Sec. 20. All officers provided for in this Article shall hold their offices until their successors shall be qualified and they shall respectively reside in the district, county or precinct, from which they shall be selected. All officers, when not otherwise provided for in this Article, shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 21. (1) In the case of any vacancy in the Supreme Court or in any district court or in such other court or courts made subject to this provision by law, such vacancy shall be filled by the Governor from a list of at least two nominees presented to him by the appropriate judicial nominating commission. If the Governor shall fail to make an appointment from the list within sixty days from the date it is presented to him, the appointment shall be made by the Chief Justice or the acting Chief Justice of the Supreme Court from the same list.

(2) In all other cases, any vacancy shall be filled as provided by law.

(3) At the next general election following the expiration of three years from the date of appointment of any judge under the provisions of subsection (1) of this section and every six years thereafter as long as such judge retains office, each Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or district court or such other court or courts as the Legislature shall provide shall have his right to remain in office subject to approval or rejection by the electorate in such manner as the Legislature shall provide; Provided, that every judge holding or elected to an office described in subsection (1) of this section on the effective date of this amendment whether by election or appointment, upon qualification shall be deemed to have been selected and to have once received the approval of the electorate as herein provided, and shall be required to submit his right to continue in office to the approval or rejection of the electorate at the general election next preceding the expiration of the term of office for which such judge was elected or appointed, and every six years thereafter. In the case of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the electorate of the entire state shall vote on the question of approval or rejection. In the case of any Judge of the Supreme Court, other than the Chief Justice, and any judge of the district court or any other court made subject to subsection (1) of this section, the electorate of the district from which such judge was selected shall vote on the question of such approval or rejection.

(4) There shall be a judicial nominating commission for the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and one for each judicial district of the Supreme Court and of the district court and one for each area or district served by any other court made subject to subsection (1) of this section by law. Each judicial nominating commission shall consist of seven members, one of whom shall be a Judge of the Supreme Court who shall be designated by the Governor and shall act as chairman. The members of the bar of the state residing in the area from which the nominees are to be selected shall designate three of their number to serve as members of said commission, and the Governor shall appoint three citizens, not admitted to practice law before the courts of the state, from among the residents of the same geographical area to serve as members of said commission. The terms of office for members of each judicial nominating commission shall be staggered and shall be fixed by the Legislature. The nominees of any such commission cannot include a member of such commission or any person who has served as a member of such commission within a period of two years immediately preceding his nomination or for such additional period as the Legislature shall provide."

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1962, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article III, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 5. At the regular session of the Legislature held in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-five the Legislature shall by law determine the number of members to be elected and divide the state into legislative districts. In the creation of such districts, any county that contains population sufficient to entitle it to two or more members of the Legislature shall be divided into separate and distinct legislative districts, as nearly equal in population as may be and composed of contiguous and compact territory. After the creation of such districts, beginning in nineteen hundred and thirty-six and every two years thereafter, one member of the Legislature shall be elected from each such district. The basis of apportionment shall be the population excluding aliens, as shown by next preceding federal census. The Legislature may redistrict the state from time to time, not more often than once in ten years. In any such redistricting, county lines shall be followed whenever practicable, but other established lines may be followed at the discretion of the Legislature. In such redistricting, primary emphasis shall be placed on population and not less than twenty per cent nor more than thirty per cent weight shall be given to area."

Respectfully submitted,
FRANK MARSH
Secretary of State

Fair Gain Made On Stock Market As Month Ends

New York (AP) — Profit taking scrambled stock market prices Wednesday as the list topped out two days of vigorous advance. The market ended the month of October with a fair gain.

The latest rallying phase of the market blotted out the sharp mid-October decline.

Wednesday's session carried the advance part way through the third straight day but the market obviously needed a breathing spell.

Even so, the Dow Jones industrial average, thanks to plus signs among some of the pivotal blue chips that compose it, nudged upward .79 to 589.77. This left the Dow with a net gain of 10.79 for the month of October.

The more comprehensive 500-stock Standard & Poor's index Wednesday eased .02 to 56.52, giving this barometer a net gain of .25 on the month.

Trading was moderately brisk in the morning but faded to a walk thereafter, putting volume at 3.09 million shares compared with 3.83 million Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks registered a small gain of .2 at 218.00 with industrials unchanged, rails up .5, and utilities up .1. The AP average had a net gain of 3.1 on the month.

Of 1,254 issues traded, 507 advanced and 502 declined. New highs for the year totaled 4 and new lows 17.

The day brought news that unemployment had declined in October to a three-year low. At the same time, the government reported that the rate of spending on new construction had declined fractionally during the month. Reports from the Cuban situation had no apparent effect on stock trading.

Prices also were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was one million shares compared with 1.05 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were a shade higher. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Indict 6 Aluminum Conductor Makers

. . . ON PRICE-FIX COUNTS

Philadelphia (UPI) —Six of the nation's largest manufacturers of aluminum conductor cable were indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on charges of conspiring to fix prices illegally.

Named in the indictment were Aluminum Co. of America, Pittsburgh; Anaconda Wire and Cable Co., New York; General Cable Co., New York and Perth Amboy, N.J.; Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Co., Oakland, Calif.; Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., New York, and Reynolds Metals Co., Richmond, Va.

The indictment charged that the firms, along with various other unnamed manufacturers termed co-conspriators but not indicted, conducted a price-fix scheme from June, 1958, until at least August, 1960.

$70 Million

The government said the sales of the 6 companies in 1959 amounted to $70 million, or 90% of all the aluminum cable sold in the United States that year.

The firms allegedly set up a plan illegally to fix, maintain and stabilize cable prices at "non-competitive" and artificial levels, depriving their customers and those of the alleged co-conspirators the opportunity to buy cable at competitive prices.

The cable is used primarily for the transmission and distribution of electricity, with users including federal, state and municipal agencies, the Tennessee Valley Authority and public utilities.

Notified

The indictments were returned to U.S. District Court Judge Alfred L. Luongo, who issued summonses to the 6 companies, notifying them that they are to appear to enter pleas.

Lawrence Litchfield, Jr., president of Alcoa, said the firm does not know the "basis of the accusation against us. We are aware of no wrongdoing on our part and expect to defend our position fully in court."

Olin Mathieson also said it plans to "contests these charges in court vigorously." A spokesman added that the company "has strict corporate policies demanding complete compliance with both the letter and the spirit of the antitrust laws" and its conductor operations "have been managed in accordance" with them.

Deny Charges

Richard B. Steinmetz, Anaconda president, said, "we deny the charges alleged in the indictment and shall disprove them in court." He added the firm "has not conspired with its competitors to violate the antitrust laws."

In Richmond Va. — Reynolds Metals Co. said it was confident it has not been guilty of any action that caused its electric cable customers or the public any loss.

The company's statement said it is "almost unbelievable that a conspiracy to set prices could exist with prices as depressed as much as they have been in the electrical wire and cable market.

"If such a conspiracy has been attempted," the statement said, "it has been peculiarly inept. With profits practically non-existent in the electrical wire and cable field, there has been no benefit to Reynolds nor any loss to customers. Competition for cable business has always been intense."

Stock Growers OK Amendment 7

Alliance (AP) — Directors of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association have endorsed proposed Amendment No. 7, the legislative reapportionment issue, and have called on members to do likewise.

The cattlemen's organization, which has its heaviest membership in the western two thirds of the state, said this may be the only opportunity in several years to provide for area representation in the unicameral.

CARMICHAEL

RED PARTY QUARTERS SET AFIRE

New Delhi (AP) — Demonstrators attacked the national headquarters of India's Communist Party Wednesday, looting it and leaving it ablaze.

The attack followed a stormy 5-hour meeting of the party's national executive committee which was unable to decide whether to support India or China in the undeclared war now raging in the Himalayas.

Firemen put out the blaze after it had damaged the offices. Desks were overturned and papers strewn into the street by the demonstrators.

Appeal Fund At 88%; Could Top Goal Friday

With the report of an additional $42,372 Wednesday at the 10th 1963 United Appeal luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce, campaign chairman Myron Weil, announced that the campaign could go over its goal Friday if the workers would finish up their reports.

The Red Feather-Red Cross fund drive stood at $623,145 or 88% of completion. A special guest at the luncheon was John C. Whitten, president of the Lincoln Community Chest in 1944.

Weil partly attributed Wednesday's encouraging report to the easing of world tension. Lincoln Air Force Base, which has been delayed in its solicitation, reported that the campaign at the base has raised $10,017 or 55% of its $18,500 goal.

Glenn Bonacker, chairman of unit firms, announced that employe groups, executives and firm gifts of 17 unit firms helped to bring the division to $327,712 or 91% of its $360,000 mark. The firms include First Nebraska Securities; Hardy Furniture; Havelock National Bank; Norden Laboratories; Notifier Corp.; O'Shea Rogers Motor Co.; Randolph Oldsmobile; Pegler; Schwarz Paper Co.; Sullivan Transfer & Storage; Standard Reliance Insurance Co.; Union Bank & Trust Co.; Wells & Frost; Weaver Potato Chip Co.; Victor Business Forms; Vanice Pontiac, and Capital Mutual Insurance Co.

Advance gifts leader Harry Seward reported $2,310 to bring the division's total to 88.8% or $150,894 of its $170,000 goal.

Mrs. Gene Christiansen and her assistants, Mrs. Boyd Wedgwood and Mrs. Don Weller, reported that the Women's Division had reached $14,032 or 96% of their goal of $14,568.

Business and government, led by Burt Folsom, added an additional $15,708 to bring the division's total to $130,507 or 82% of its $159,866 mark.

Employes of 22 business and government firms received "oscars" for reaching or topping their goals.

United Appeal campaign workers who received "Oscars" for topping their goals included Lt. Gen. Dar Blazek.

Other business and government workers who exceeded their marks were Joseph Tresnak, Harold Read, Donald Sievers, Clarence Carlson, Merlyn Minderman, Rodney Vandeberg, and Orville Vandewege.

Women's division workers surpassing their goal included Mrs. Herman Brockmeyer, Mrs. Don Ellis, Mrs. Charles Klasek, Mrs. Neal Adair, and Mrs. Norman Bockoven.

Blinking 'Firefly' Is In Orbit

Mother Earth Is To Be 'Measured'

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — A "Firefly" satellite with 4 blinking beacons zipped into orbit Wednesday to take Mother Earth's measurements — where she bulges, dips, her center of gravity and distances between far-apart places.

The unique satellite, officially named Anna, could produce more accurate maps of our world and gather vitally needed information for tracking future American astronauts to the moon and back.

Militarily, Anna could more precisely pinpoint location of possible enemy targets for long-range missiles. But officials considered this a secondary role.

Almost Perfect

A two-state Thor-Able-Star rocket rifled into the pre-dawn darkness Wednesday to propel the 355-pound sphere into a nearly perfect circular orbit about 735 miles above the earth.

Because the rocket was aimed on a northeast heading which carried the satellite over Russia, the Defense Department announced launching time in advance so that Soviet missile trackers would not mistake Anna for a hostile weapon.

A project spokesman reported all systems in the satellite were functioning perfectly. He said trackers will follow the payload for 3 days to determine exact orbital path before starting to exercise the flashing lights sometime Saturday night.

Binoculars Needed

Although packing the illuminating power of a lighthouse, the flashes would be so far away they would not be visible to the naked eye. But officials said anyone with a small pair of binoculars should be able to spot them as dim stars in the night sky. The Defense Department is expected to announce light activation times in advance.

Shade For Dad

Miami (AP)—A family was heading for the beach one warm day when their station-wagon had a flat tire. The children, all in swimsuits, got out and held a beach umbrella over their father while he changed the tire.

'Too Religious'

State Cases

PETIT LARCENY—Michael Mauch, 19, no address given, fined $25; Brady Mayfield, 40, no address given, fined $25; Melvin Drewes, 18, 1224 Belmont Ave., charged on two counts, fined $70.
SPEEDING—(75-65) William J. Johnson, LAFB, fined $61.

COUNTY COURT

Note: All cases heard by Judge Ralph Slocum.

Misdemeanors

VAGRANCY—Carol Fuller, 29, of 3130 So. 11th, pleaded guilty, sentenced to an indeterminate term in the Women's Reformatory.

SUPREME COURT

The City of Lincoln asked that a Lancaster County District Court condemnation ruling be reversed. The district court held that the city must pay Rollie and Betty Johnson of Lincoln $1,350 for the right to construct an easement for sanitary sewer purposes on land owned by the Johnsons. The city contends that the amount ordered by the trial court is more than the land is worth.

The Greyhound Bus Corp. asked the court for a reversal of a State Railway Commission ruling which held that the Black Hills Stage Lines, Inc., could operate a through bus service from Rapid City, S.D. to Omaha. Greyhound claims this ruling was not backed by sufficient evidence of need for the service, was contrary to the Federal Motor Carrier Act and that such a bus service would necessitate economically unfeasible changes in Greyhound operations.
